A SKETCH OF COL. OATES.

Montgomery Advertiser.

Hon. Wm. C. Oates was born in Pike, now Bullock County, Alabama, and hence represents in Congress the district of his birth. He is six feet, two inches tall, weighs 220 pounds, and though now fifty-eight years old, is as strong and active as many men twenty years his junior. His parents were from the Carolinas. His father was an industrious farmer, but a poor man and unable to give his son any advantages except to send him to three-months country schools in the fall of the year; after the crops were laid by, altogether not aggregating more than a year and a half. The country was thinly populated and there were no public schools then.

Col. Oates was raised to plow and hoe and do other farm labor until he was 18 years old, when he took to the world to make a living for himself. He worked at mechanical trades in Florida, Louisiana and Texas for two years. He was all the time of studious habits and at the expiration of this taught a country school for six months in the southern part of Henry County. He then went to school at the Lawrenceville Academy for a like period; then returned and taught another school, and on the proceeds earned he again went to the Lawrenceville School until he became a good English scholar, could read Latin very well and had advanced in mathematics through geometry. He then went to Eufrasia and read law in the office of Pugh, Bullock & Buford, studying sixteen hours in every twenty-four until at the end of four months he underwent a highly creditable examination and was admitted to the bar. This was in November, 1858. He then located at Abbeville, in Henry County, to practice law, and edited a weekly Democratic newspaper until the breaking out of the war. He then raised a company of young men, 120 strong, which was mustered into the Fifteenth Alabama Regiment, to serve for three years, or during the war. The Regiment was sent to Virginia and placed in the command of Stonewall Jackson, and participated in all the battles he fought up to the time of his death in May, 1863. Col. Oates was the seventh Captain in rank in the Regiment. He was very much respected and beloved by his men, for he participated in all the hard service with them and cared for and protected them to the best of his ability. When he was second captain in rank, in consequence of the absence of his superiors, he commanded the regiment for six or seven months, through many hard marches and several battles, in all of which he handled it with consummate skill and courage. About the 1st of June, 1863, just before Lee's army went to Gettysburg, Gen. Hood caused Oates to be appointed a Colonel in the provisional army, under a law of the Confederate Congress, for valor and skill displayed on the field, and assigned him to the command of his old regiment, which he commanded through the terrible battle of Gettysburg, in which he held the extreme right of our lines on the second and third days of July, 1863, and with his own and the Forty-seventh Alabama, turned the Federal left and doubled it up on "Little Round Top," his fire killing Gen. Vincent, the commander at that point and came very near driving the Federals from it, which would have turned the scales of that great battle in favor of the Confederates. He lost two-thirds of his regiment, a brother of his being among the killed. His regiment was in Hood's division, which was transferred with Longstreet's command to the West, and fought both days in the hard battle of Chickamauga, he commanding the brigade on Saturday evening. When the Confederate Army moved up around Chattanooga, Col. Oates was put in command of the upper part of Lookout Valley and held that position, blockading the wagon road on the opposite side of the Tennessee, until the morning of the 27th of October, when Grant threw across the river an invading force under Gen. Hazen of 2,200 men, which Col. Oates met and fought with 200 men and the section of a battery, until severely wounded, and then succeeded in withdrawing his command and saving them from capture. He did not recover from this wound until the following February, when he rejoined his regiment in East Tennessee and that spring went in command of it back to Longstreet in Virginia, participating in all the battles between Lee and Grant from May 5th until August 16th, 1864, at which time he had his right arm shot off on the Darbytown Road on the north side of the James River. He came very near dying from secondary hemorrhage two weeks after he had lost his arm, and had not fairly recovered at the time of the surrender. He was recommended for it and would have been made a Brigadier General soon after Hood took command of the Army of the Tennessee had it not been for the loss of his arm and his disability caused thereby. Hood wanted him with him because he knew what sort of a fighter he was and that he would always obey orders promptly. Col. Oates was wounded four times slightly and twice severely during the war and was engaged in twenty-seven battles.

After the close of the war Col. Oates had nothing in the world but a one-eyed horse he captured from the Yankees and a Confederate uniform. He had to learn to write with his left hand, which he soon did, and resumed the practice of law, in which he had but a slight experience when the war began. He soon became very successful in his profession and up to 1880, when he entered Congress, had made more money than any other lawyer in Southeastern Alabama. Immediately after the war he was a member of the State Executive Committee, and labored vigorously with Gen. Jim Clanton to resuscitate the Democratic Party. He was a delegate to the National Convention which nominated Seymour in 1868, and canvassed and spoke against both Judge Minnis and Buckley through Southeast Alabama. He fought the carpet-baggers fearlessly and was arrested by military order and held under bond of $10,000 to keep the peace towards them. No man did more to reorganize the Democratic Party in Alabama after the war than he.

In 1870 he received a respectable vote in the nominating convention for Governor, although he was not a candidate, at the time when Gov. Lindsay was nominated. In the fall of the same year he was nominated by the Legislature by the Democratic Convention of Henry County without his being a candidate or asking for it, and elected. He was a very active member of the Legislature at the session of 1870-71, and 1871-72. He was the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and a member of the Judiciary Committee, and had a very conspicuous part in the legislation of the House. In 1875 he was elected from the Thirty-third Senatorial District a member of the Constitutional Convention, which framed our present constitution. He was the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee and a very active and useful member of that body. In 1872 he was a candidate for the nomination for Governor and of the five candidates in nomination he ran next to Thos. H. Herndon, who was nominated. He was nominated for Congress by the Democrats in the Montgomery District, to strengthen the State ticket, for it was well known that the District had 6,000 Republican majority. Oates made an active canvass of the District and ran ahead of the State ticket in every county thereof and in every ward in the city of Montgomery, but was beaten by Rapier, the negro nominee. Herndon was defeated. He having been a member of the secession convention, a great many believed that if Oates had been the nominee he would have carried the State on account of his very conservative and conciliatory speeches, which he made to his audiences, in which there were Union men. In 1878 he was a candidate for the nomination for Congress in the third District. The Convention met at Eufrasia and continued for five days. After Oates had received the votes of four counties 750 times, he requested his friends to withdraw his name and make a nomination of some one else. Samford was nominated and elected. In 1880 Oates was a candidate again, and was elected, and has been a member of Congress ever since, having been nominated by acclamation seven times, and has always been elected by a very fair majority. In 1892, when he was nominated it was believed by nearly all his friends that he would be defeated, as Kolb had carried nearly all the counties of his district the August before in his race for Governor, but Col. Oates inaugurated a vigorous campaign all over his district, speaking himself altogether 148 hours, and expending a considerable sum of money. The organization was perfected in accordance with his suggestions, and he won a glorious victory, carrying all eight of the counties in his district by a majority of 7,000. His own county, Henry, gave Kolb in August 1,500 majority. Oates won that back and carried it by 1,400 majority in November. He determined before his last election that he would not be a candidate for Congress again, that he had received as much honor from his district as was reasonable for him to ask, in serving them fourteen years continuously in the House of Representatives. He so informed them when he was nominated, and that he did not know that he would be a candidate for any other office unless sometime he should be a candidate for United States Senator.

In legislation Col. Oates has originated, introduced and pressed to a consideration a greater number of bills intended for the relief of his people from hard conditions than any other member from the Southern States. Of course he was unsuccessful in many of these. Among other things he has pressed all the time, and with all his ability, a refund of the $68,000,000 of cotton tax wrongfully and unjustly taken from the Southern people.

While he is firm and persistent in urging his views and the consideration of measures he is a conservative man. He never abuses personally those who differ with him in matters of legislation. He does not hesitate to denounce measures which he thinks wrong, but does not go beyond that boundary. He never indulges in personal denunciations nor says anything intended to give offense, although he is always earnest and outspoken in favor of or in opposition to measures according to his honest beliefs. While he is the soundest kind of a State's rights Democrat he never sticks in the back and if he cannot get what he desires, and if by making concessions can get one-half, he will take that as the best policy. The old Republican members of the House greatly esteem him personally and are always willing to help him in any matter non-political, because they say he is always fair and honest and treats them respectfully. The old and leading Democratic members who have served so long with him have frequently testified their great respect for his character and ability. If the South had more such conservative, reasonable and fearless men in Congress we would obtain much more beneficial legislation than we do.

In his domestic relations Col. Oates is a very kind and indulgent husband and father and has done very much for his relatives since the war. He educated his brother, Jas. Wyatt Oates who is now a prominent lawyer of California, and also two nephews and two nieces, and four or five people who are no kin to him. One of the latter is now a distinguished Baptist minister. His mother and widowed sister have lived with him and been provided for by him for more than twenty-five years. There is not a man in Alabama who has done more kind deeds for his poor relatives and expended more money to put them up in the world than he has. A greater number of poor white people and of negroes within the circle of his acquaintance vote for him when he is a candidate than for any other man, for the reason that he has always been their friend and when in his employ, as many of them have been, at his mills and on his plantation, he has always dealt fairly with them and given them full satisfaction. In hundreds of cases he has loaned them money and helped them on in the world, and they kindly remember it.

This is the manner of man who is to lead the Alabama Democracy. He is a typical Southern man, who has made his way to the front in the face of many adverse circumstances. Our people have cause to be proud of such men. They give to the world assurance that in this country the road to position is wide open for those who are worthy and capable. He has been loyal to his convictions, his duty, his party and his country. Every Democrat should enthusiastically rally to his standard.

Col. Oates' Speech of Acceptance.

After his nomination Col. Oates was escorted to the stand by a committee and spoke as follows before the Convention:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Convention: This is an occasion on which and a compliment of which any man may indeed feel proud. But with me I feel that it is the very acme of all my achievements, and an honor unrivaled by any ever conferred upon me. The campaign through which I have passed has been an extraordinary one, as between me and my distinguished competitor. There has been upon my part, and I presume upon his, feelings of the utmost kindness. We are both Democrats, and have had a personal acquaintance with each other for more than a quarter of a century, during all of which we have been good friends. In none of the speeches I have made have I spoken of my distinguished competitor otherwise than in the kindest manner. (Cries of "Louder, louder.") The differences between us are such as may often be found to exist between Democrats; matters of policy and such as should always be treated with marked kindness and settled by appeals to reason. I feel that I ought to be congratulated upon achieving a success in the nomination over Capt. Johnston, whom I regard as one of the finest organizers and one of the best workers that Alabama ever produced. (Applause.)

With reference to the matters of difference, I only wish to say upon this occasion, that though of vast importance they are not at all irreconcilable; they are easily harmonized, and I hope that when your body comes to consider the question of a platform that you will declare in that instrument such sensible and practical principles in accordance with our national platform and with what we all ultimately aim at, as to have no practical differences among us. All that I have aimed to accomplish in this campaign I can assure you, my friends, is perfectly consistent and dictated by the very best principles of Democracy; and in order that our party may continue to be successful, we must always adhere to the fundamental principles of Democracy, and while in their application there may be differences among us, as to matters of detail, all these can be harmonized. My effort has been, and will continue to be, to ally all differences among Democrats and to unite the party. Some differences have been disturbing elements and all these should be put aside to procure the greatest amount of harmony in our ranks, and thus insure our success. The maintenance of these principles which have in the past and will continue to contribute the greatest measure of happiness and prosperity to our people, is often of the highest importance.

I feel that while this contest for the nomination for the high office of Governor of our great State has come to an end, the conflict before us is no small matter, and is one that calls for our united and harmonious efforts for its proper solution, and a glorious triumph to our party in August next is the blessing which awaits us. As for myself, I shall do all I can to that end. I believe in conducting the campaign upon perfectly sound principles which shall be made known in the plainest manner to all our people and at the same time appeal to their reason and the reason of those who differ with us, rather than to passion, for the purpose of securing harmony and the greatest acquisitions to our ranks. I expect to pursue that course and to advise it in others and I hope that all of our people will unite in such efforts. I scarcely doubt that such will be the case. The intelligence of the Democracy of Alabama is fully equal to any such occasion, and while we have differed in the past and some have left the ranks for what they conceived to be a just cause, I think that a large number of them are finding and will soon be convinced that they were in error and will return to the ranks of the Democracy, so that by proper efforts on our part we will soon find a reunited Democracy as strong in numbers and as fixed in purpose as it was before the dissensions and differences which were brought into it unhappily something over four years ago. I want to say to you that so far as I am concerned, it has not been a matter so much of personal ambition as it has been an intense desire upon my part to secure harmony among the Democrats of my native State. I know that if we act harmoniously it will not only have a grand effect upon us here in our State, but it will be an example to the Democrats in our sister States which will weigh very considerably and contribute much to like happy results among them. I could not ask or hope for any higher honor than you have conferred upon me and I hope to prove worthy of it. It is not the first time that my name has been brought before a convention by my fellow citizens for this high position. Twenty-four years ago, when I was comparatively a young man, and when material out of which to nominate a Governor was rather scarce in consequence of the disfranchisement of a large number of our elder citizens, who were men of experience, my name was presented to a Democratic convention for Governor of Alabama.

Lindsay was nominated and I received a very respectable vote, though I was not an avowed candidate; and two years later—twenty-two years ago—I was a candidate for the nomination, and received a very good vote, in fact, when of the five candidates all had dropped out but myself and the late lamented Colonel Thomas Herndon, he beat me for the nomination, but I was not in the least soured by the disappointment. I at once, under the direction of the State Executive Committee, took the stump and canvassed North Alabama for him. At this time no Democrat could be found to take the nomination for Congress in this district. There being a Republican majority of 15,000 no Democrat could hope to be elected. I agreed to take the nomination in order to all our State ticket. I made thirty odd speeches and did all in my power to elect the ticket headed by the gentleman who defeated me for the nomination. I felt it to be quite as much my duty as though I had succeeded, to do all I could for the ticket, because with me Democracy with the blessings it bestows upon the people who observe its principles is infinitely more important than any self aggrandizement. (Applause.)

And on this occasion, proud as I am of the honor conferred, I would rather, if the one were put against the other, to see the success of my Democratic friends, to see them triumphant, than to be thus honored—I place it above all price politically. (Applause.)

I call the attention of my distinguished competitor to the fact, that although I have succeeded in getting the nomination, on this occasion, he has progressed as nearly toward the high honor as I prior to the present occasion. I believe my friend's name was before a convention for the nomination once before, so it has been twice mentioned in that connection in terms of high praise and with quite a strong vote. Mine has been mentioned before and the third time it seems I am successful. So he need not despair of the future. (Applause.)

As long as we have the approbation of our fellow men, we should be encouraged even if the full measure of our ambition is not realized.

Gentlemen, I can scarcely find words in which to thank you for this honor. I am aware that it is not my personal merits, but that it is because a majority of you have thought that I was a better candidate for the party at this time than my distinguished competitor and that I am the advocate of unadulterated Democracy. I never feel like rejoicing over my friend when I have been successful; I am inclined rather to extend sympathy and brotherly love to my friend than to rejoice over him in consequence of my success.

I want to say to you (though it may seem a little egotistic) that I see a gentleman in this audience whose presence reminds me of what transitions in life from one condition to another may occur in this country of ours. When I came home from the war, in which I had borne an honorable part, I had nothing in the world but a one-eyed sore horse which I had captured from the Yankees and a Confederate uniform. I had to learn to write with my one hand. I had gotten a law license just before I went to the army. The first court that I attended was in Troy, not far distant from where I was born. I went down there to attend that court in the hope of being employed in some case. I didn't have money to pay my bill at a hotel. I hitched my horse out, and received invitations from some of my soldier friends to go into the country and stay over night, and thus I remained for a week waiting for a case. I knew my friends would have invited me to the hotel if they had known of my destitute condition. I did not despair. On Monday, I returned, and while sitting around the court house, some parties who had been indicted were brought in to be tried, and I see a gentleman, a delegate in this convention, my friend Hon. J. D. Murphree, of Troy, and he stepped over to me and said, "You don't seem to have anything to do; I will give you $25 to aid the solicitor in prosecuting these men." I replied that I certainly would accept it. They were convicted and I then had enough money to go to a hotel which I did. That was the first money that I made. I was pretty low down then, but I continued to hope for better times, and by the friendship extended to me by many of my old comrades and others with whom I came in contact, I have gradually climbed up and on and have been honored by my people till I have reached the climax in being nominated for the highest office in the gift of the people, Governor of my native State. (Applause.)

I have no doubt of being elected (Applause) I expect to contribute all I can to that end and I expect such a large number of able and eloquent men to aid in the campaign that in the August election we will achieve a glorious triumph, and we will cease to hear any more of the genial Rouben or his party. (From the audience, "That is the stuff.")

The Party in Alabama.

The nomination of Colonel Oates as the democratic candidate for governor of Alabama ought to be the signal for complete harmony in the party. There has been a good deal of unnecessary rancor displayed in the preliminary campaign by some of those who set themselves up as special partisans of Colonel Oates, but his own canvass showed that he did not sympathize with the proscription methods adopted. If party harmony depended on this element, it would be flung to the winds in Alabama and in every other state.

But party harmony depends now as always on the people who are true to democratic principles, and who feel and know that these principles can only be put into operation as the result of democratic unity. It is this feeling and this knowledge which impels sensible and conservative men to subordinate minor differences and mere questions of policy, to the larger and more important considerations that belong to party harmony.

The chief of these considerations is this: that if men permit differences on minor points to divide them they cannot carry to a successful issue the principles that are vital and essential; that if a party cannot put into operation all its policies, it can at least carry out some of them—whereas, if there be division and demoralization, the malcontents and factionists merely play into the hands of the republicans.

The prediction has been freely made that if Colonel Oates, representing the rancorous faction in Montgomery, should receive the nomination, the platform democrats would desert their colors and swell the ranks of the Kolb men. This is wild nonsense. When Colonel Oates received the votes of a majority of the democratic convention, he became the democratic candidate and this was made unmistakable when the convention gave him its unanimous endorsement. If he ever had been the candidate of a rancorous faction, he ceased to be that when the democratic convention gave him its endorsement. He became at once the candidate of the democratic party and all democrats who care anything about the success of the principles of their party will give him their hearty support.

They will give him their support whether they agree with all his personal or political views or not, and for the very good reason that he represents the material and imposing fact of democracy—the vital force that stands for popular government. It was this consideration that impelled the supporters of Johnston in the convention to declare themselves for Oates when he had received the votes of a majority of the delegates.

In Alabama, in Georgia, in every state where the democratic party has vitality, considerations of party unity and harmony must be held to be of paramount importance. There is no remedy for the evils of republican legislation outside the democratic organization. There is no hope whatever in any movement outside the democratic party. Whatever weakens the organization hurts the people's cause and helps the republicans.

Democratic voters may not relish the financial policy thus far developed by congress and the administration. They may resent the effectlessness of the small but devoted band of hand-fed patriots who are trying to take the affairs of the party in charge. But beyond and above these things is the necessity of presenting a solid front to republican aggression, the necessity that impels thoughtful men to look beyond faction fights and individual selfishness to the welfare of the people and to the final complete success of democratic principles.—Atlanta Constitution.

JACKSONVILLE, May 29, 1894.

EDITOR HOT-BLAST:—The card published in The Hot-Blast of the 29th inst., signed by us, touching the management of the primary election at this place the 12th inst., was not intended by us as any attack upon The Jacksonville Republican or any person whomsoever, and was not given to aid any side in controversy.

We gave the statement to the executive committee of this precinct, at his request, to exonerate him from any charge of unfairness in his instructions to the managers, that might be made against him at any time.

In the light of events we do not regard any statement of The Republican touching the late primary as any intended reflection upon us as managers of the election.

GEO. CROW,
J. J. SKELTON,
T. R. WARD,
Managers Primary.

Following the primary election in this precinct the REPUBLICAN made a statement that Jeffersonians and Populists voted in the primary and that it was the opinion of the paper that but for that vote results would have been different. Whatever may have been the difference of opinion then as to whether or not the vote of these men changed the result, there was none as to the fact that men not democrats voted in the primary at the invitation and under the personal direction of men claiming to be democrats. As a democratic paper the REPUBLICAN rebuked this conduct; but was careful to say that the mass of supporters of Capt. Johnston were not responsible for it, that it was the work of three or four men; and that they had been enabled to do the dirty political act because of a failure of the supporters of Col. Oates to get an agreement with the other side to challenge voters as to their intention to support the nominees of the State Convention. We state now what was not then stated: that the most solemn promises were given—the democrats supporting Col. Oates that no outside parties would be voted in the democratic primary; and that there was a gross breach of good faith.

Since the publication of the fact, the three or four men at the bottom of it have been squirming under the public censure of their undemocratic procedure. Angry at the REPUBLICAN for "talking out in meeting," these men—well known in this community and spotted—have been seeking by every artifice to divert attention from the main point at issue by involving the REPUBLICAN in a quarrel with the editor of the Hot-Blast who appears, was willing enough to aid them, but who in the nature of things knew nothing of the matter. This failing they sought to interpose the managers of election between themselves and an aroused public opinion and make it appear that the managers were the men involved and not themselves. For this purpose, under pretense of vindication of an individual not attacked they got a card from the managers that the election was fairly held under instructions of the State Committee and Chairman Smith's letter. This statement the Hot-Blast is made to parade as a "voluntary" statement and the supple little editor fibs glibly in saying that the REPUBLICAN "censured" the managers and charged that the election was "fraudulently conducted."

But the game did not work. The managers were conscious of innocence of wrong doing and objected to being made parties defendant to a controversy which did not affect them.

They controvert in their last card the statement that their first card, published in the Hot-Blast was "voluntary." On the contrary they say it was solicited. They further say they did not give it to aid either side to this controversy, and that they do not regard the strictures of the REPUBLICAN as intended for them. In neither of the two cards published by them, do they touch the point at issue, and that is whether or not Populists and Jeffersonians voted in the primary. The managers are right in supposing the REPUBLICAN had no reference to them.

Altogether the matter is too small to have commanded the attention it has. The REPUBLICAN made its statement in the interest of truth and party honor, and not because either ticket was beaten. And it will stand by its statements always. It does not lie and it will not suffer men to controvert its assertions by clever juggle of words or mystification of issues. Populists and Jeffersonians did vote in the primary and many of them have been heard to say since then that they would support Kolb, and that they were not pledged to the support of the democratic nominees in the primary.

The charge that the editor of the REPUBLICAN was irritated because the ticket of delegates to which his name belonged was beaten is too silly for notice. It was a contest between Oates and Johnston. The men on the two tickets were mere figure-heads and did not count for anything. If any man on either delegation regarded it as HIS fight he was a fool, as every man, woman and child in the town can readily see.

The fact noticed by the REPUBLICAN (twit: that Jeffersonians and Populists voted in the primary) involved a principle and went directly to the honor, welfare and organization of the party. It was done solely in the interest of the party. Men who go outside of party lines to invite men into democratic primaries ought to be rebuked and the Democracy of Calhoun ought to congratulate themselves that they have one newspaper in the county not afraid to do it.

The REPUBLICAN has no quarrel with the managers of the primary, who did their duty, under their instructions. It has no quarrel with the bulk of men who differed with its editor as to the proper man to nominate for governor. It has no quarrel with the Hot-Blast, which knows nothing of the matter and is only a cats paw. But it does have a quarrel with the men who bring men of other parties into democratic primaries and do other undemocratic acts, not as yet adverted to; and, if they will only come out from under cover, it will be very glad to pay its compliments to them in a manner not entirely enjoyable to them or conducive to their future political interests.

We print this week an admirable sketch of the life of Col. Wm. C. Oates from the Montgomery Advertiser. Next week we shall print sketches of the other nominees on the State Democratic ticket. We also print the speech of acceptance of Col. Oates. It is admirable. It breathes a true spirit of conservatism and love of country rarely found in the effusions or utterances of the latter day politician. There is nothing of the straddler or demagogue in Oates. He is a square, truthful man. What he says he means and may be relied on. The people will like this man who has been set up from the "low haunts" to the most prominent place in our State politics, better as they know more of him. He is one of them and sympathizes with them.

The registration in Anniston reached thirteen hundred and eighty-five.

In Jacksonville the registration reached four hundred and seven, about one hundred short.

Polkville beat did better than Jacksonville. There, the registered one hundred and fifty—about the full vote of the beat. It is said that only eight men failed to register. Of those registered in Polkville 142 were white and 8 were negroes. Of the registered voters 15 are said to be for Kolb; 15 on the fence and the balance for Oates.

We shall be glad to hear from other beats as to the relative standing of the voters.

Col. Dan'l S. Troy, a leading lawyer of the State, has given a written opinion on the election law. Discussing the registration he says:

"If an assistant-registrar returns to the judge of probate a registration list containing fictitious names or names written by him, or by his permission or direction, not of persons in fact registered by him, he is guilty of forgery in the second degree. This offense is punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two nor more than ten years."

He also says if an assistant registrar presents a bill of three cents for each name not legally registered, he is guilty of getting money on false pretense and can be indicted.

OATES ON CLEVELAND.

Views of the Alabamian in Regard to the President's Policy.

ATLANTA, May 26.—In an interview given out by Congressman W. C. Oates, Democratic nominee for governor of Alabama, the following opinions were expressed by him in regard to Mr. Cleveland, and his financial policy:

"Yes, I did say that the money power had the government by the leg, and I say it again; but the responsibility for that state of affairs belongs to the Republican party, not to Mr. Cleveland. Yes," he continued, "I did say it; and while the words were not Mr. Cleveland's—I have been quoted as saying they were—the sentiment was his."

"I have talked a good deal with Mr. Cleveland," continued Colonel Oates, "and in discussing the financial situation and the condition of the treasury, he has gone so far as to say, in the strong language that is characteristic of the man, that the New York banks have such control of the situation that he, the president, didn't know what to do."

"I do not agree with Mr. Cleveland on all phases of the money question. He is in favor of bimetalism only after international agreement. I disagree with him there, for I believe that we can have the free coinage of both gold and silver, maintaining the two dollars at a parity, independent of the rest of the world. I wrote the silver plank in the platform we adopted at Montgomery which says: 'While there are differences of opinion among us in matters of detail, we all believe in the free coinage of silver whenever it can be done consistently with the maintenance of a sound and safe currency.'"

"I believe as I have always said," continued Colonel Oates, "that Mr. Cleveland is a friend of silver. I know he is, for he has told me so. The mistake he has made is that he has not let the people know just where he has stood and where he now stands. I don't think he should have vetoed the seigniorage bill, and I voted to pass that bill over his veto; not that I considered that the bill would make much difference in the money situation, but because I believed its passage and approval by the president would have gone a long way towards reconciling the differences in our party at the south."

He has said that he favored international agreement, but in my opinion has not gone sufficiently into details concerning his position on the financial question to suit the people, and therein lies a good deal of the opposition to him. What is or is not good for his party has no influence whatever on him; he does just as he thinks is right, and lets no other consideration affect his actions."

PARTY UNITY.

Letter of Senator Walthall.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—The Playmate's Jackson, Miss., correspondent sends the text of a letter from Senator E. C. Walthall to the editor of The Jackson Clarion-Ledger in reply to a request that he give his views upon current issues of the day. Senator Walthall says:

"I am unable to appreciate the distinction which is supposed to exist between administration and anti-administration Democrats in Mississippi; nor do I believe there is any occasion for it, or any true basis upon which it can be defined. There is no principle to justify it, and its manifest expediency should forbid the drawing of such a line. I am sure there is no sentiment in the body of the party favoring any such needless and hurtful division in this State. Mississippi Democrats know the value of party unity and deprecate all illiberality and intolerance which tend to breed dissensions. In former years they had some bitter experience, when their party was out of power, and this they will not soon forget. They subordinate individual aspirations and interests to the general good which they believe can be best subserved by the continued ascendancy of the Democratic Party. If they do not enjoy all the benefits expected from the Democratic rule they know they are escaping many wrongs, and burdens which they endured under Republican rule. Those who agree with Mr. Cleveland in his financial views, equally with those who differ from him, have too much staked upon Democratic supremacy to subject their party's organization or integrity to any unnecessary strain on account of any matter of detail involved in the so-called silver question. They are generally bi-metalists, and the signs of the times encourage most of them to hope that the demand for silver coinage on reasonable terms cannot much longer be resisted, but they consider the unity and success of their party of paramount importance to the triumph of any particular views as to the terms on which silver coinage is to be resumed, for they do not believe it will be resumed at all if the Republicans are restored to power."

"They re-elected Mr. Lamar to the Senate, unanimously, after he had voted against a silver bill, in violation of instructions, and some of his warmest supporters, myself among them, were the open advocates of free coinage of silver. We found no more reason for dividing our party on such an issue than we do now. The friends of silver in Mississippi honored and trusted their great Senator, despite the single difference then existing between him and them. They stood by him because they had faith in him, and the same men for a like reason, are standing by Mr. Cleveland now, between whom and themselves there is much the same difference now that there was at one time between them and Mr. Lamar. The difference was and is important, but Democratic unity is vital now, as then."

"I believe a large majority of the Democrats in Mississippi are in favor of the free coinage of silver at the present ratio, but not one of them whose views have been given to the public, so far as I am informed, has authorized anybody to class him as an anti-administration Democrat. It is well known, if I may refer to my own position in this connection, that I am a free silver man, open and decided, but known as well that I am a party man and have always urged unity as a party duty, though it may involve concessions."

"I was a loyal supporter of the President in the Senate on all except financial propositions, and like other silver Democrats in that body, was willing when the bill to repeal the purchase clause of the Sherman law was under discussion, to concede much for the sake of party harmony. In that debate, after stating my individual position, I made the following declarations:

"Still, sir, as a Democrat, believing the general good can best be subserved by a united Democracy, I am ready, as I have before declared, to make reasonable concessions and meet the single standard advocates, or others from whom I differ in my party, at any point of agreement where a bimetallic policy can be established according to the pledges we have given."

"I introduce this extract here as an illustration of the harmony with which I have said before and since, believing the willingness to express to make concessions for the sake of party unity represents the feeling of a majority of the people whose supposed opinions I am now discussing."

"I do not believe that the people will agree that their public men shall be classed without their consent, as opponents of the administration simply, because, while standing by the President generally on other subjects, they did as he did on the silver question—stood by their convictions and what they believed to be the best interests of the people. If such a test of orthodoxy is to be applied, no man from Mississippi now serving in either house of Congress, or who has done so since Mr. Cleveland's first term began, can meet its exactions, if, indeed, any can who seek to do so now. The fact that the entire Mississippi delegation differ from Mr. Cleveland on the silver question is shown by their votes in favor of the seigniorage bill, emphasized by the action in the House on the proposition to pass that bill over the President's veto, which was supported by every member of the delegation, including one who had previously voted against the rest on a kindred question."

"If such a test should be applied in other Southern States, one effect will be to strip such distinguished Democrats as Senators Mills, Gordon and Ransom, and Mr. Speaker Crisp, Mr. Patterson of Tennessee, Mr. Oates of Alabama and others in the House of much of their prestige as administration Democrats as they arrayed themselves against the President in their votes for the seigniorage bill, and the above-named members of the House deliberately united with the Mississippi delegation and other Southern Democrats in the effort to override the President's veto of that bill."

"I do not believe the Democrats of Mississippi will approve such a test as that referred to, and in this they are not singular. The fact Mr. Oates, called an administration Democrat, and Senator Morgan, known to be an extreme silver man, have been both recently endorsed by the Democrats of Alabama, shows that Democrats in that State look upon this subject much as I think they do in this State; and when Mr. Blanchard, a pronounced free silver man, is elected a Senator in Louisiana by the same Legislature that elected Mr. Caffery, who stands squarely by the President on financial questions, we have another proof that Southern Democrats look with no favor on the proposition to weaken their party by dividing on financial issues."

It's flying in the face of Nature to take the ordinary pill. Just consider how it acts. There's too much bulk and bustle, and not enough real good. And think how it leaves you when it's all over! Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets act naturally. They help Nature to do her own work. They cleanse and renovate, mildly but thoroughly, the whole system. Regulate it, too. The help that they give, lasts. They're purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, the smallest, easiest, and best to take. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You pay only for the good you get.

This is true only of Dr. Pierce's medicines.

The Democracy of President Cleveland is not questioned save by disappointed politicians and disgruntled soreheads who are ready to fling over into the Populist party at a moment's notice, and we are confident that time will demonstrate the wisdom, far-sightedness and patriotism of his administration.—Natchez (Miss) Democrat.

ELECTROPOISE.

CURES

CANCER.

Keyville, Fla., April 17, 1894. Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs:—About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of treating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and you being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin-head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge."

D. A. Bryant, Hackneyville.—I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble. I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly."

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega.—"For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled."

Joseph Williams, Stevenson.—I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helpless cripple, the Electropoise did it."

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine.—"My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results."

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Dykeman, Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested? Trial bottles free at all Drug Stores. Regular size 50c, and $1.00.

The new State Executive Committee has adopted a rule that only those who vote for the Democratic nominee for Governor can participate in the Congressional primaries, which occur after the State election.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as well as a soldier, has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. H, 24th N. Y. Cavalry and the 10th Indiana Infantry. He was an important member of the Infantry Volunteers, receiving an important commission he writes as follows: "Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a properly action of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and you can see the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies." "These remedies are sold by Dr. J. C. Miles, 1232 Broadway, New York, N. Y. They are a positive guarantee, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain nothing opiates nor dangerous drugs."

Mr. Arthur Bingham, of Talladega, formerly a noted Republican politician in this State, died at his home a few days ago.

Mrs. Oliver gave a concert at the college last Wednesday night. The attendance was small but the music was good. Mrs. Oliver has a good voice. Her eyes are badly affected. She is giving concerts to raise money to have an operation performed on her eyes by Dr. Calhoun of Atlanta. We hope she will have the sympathy and help of the public.

T. Math Alexander of the compositorial force of the REPUBLICAN is absent with the troops at Birmingham.

Mr. R. E. L. Neil, formerly editor of the Selma Journal, and now assistant librarian at Washington, was in Jacksonville Tuesday and paid the REPUBLICAN a call. He is soon to wed Miss Sparks, of the family who have lived so long near Cave Springs, and who is related to many of our best people.

Ten men of the Jacksonville detachment of the Woodstock Guards left for Birmingham last Saturday the 26th to go into encampment with the second Regiment at Enly city, in Jefferson county. The following are the names of those who went:

T. M. Alexander, Sergeant.
Forney Williams, Corporal.
Privates—Will Clark, P. L. Hammond, W. A. Wilkerson, C. J. Woodruff, J. J. Hames, J. N. Hames, Samuel L. Swan, Floyd Henderson.

Dr. C. H. Montgomery went along as surgeon of the detachment. On arrival in camp he was promoted to the position of assistant surgeon of the regiment.

Gen. Joseph W. Burke returned yesterday from New York. Regarding the business situation and prospects, Gen. Burke stated to a reporter that he found much that is encouraging.

"The idea that the south is going wrong on the money question," said he, "is fast being dissipated in New York by the firm stand the Chattanooga Times and other leading southern dailies have taken for sound money. On that and other accounts there is a growing confidence in the south. In fact," continued the general, "great things are expected of the south, and I believe now for legitimate enterprises all the money that is desired can be secured."—Chattanooga Times.

The families who went from Jacksonville to Washington and Idaho states last year are pleased with their new homes, as evidenced by letters to friends here. They are doing well financially and have greatly improved in health. We have heretofore noted the fact that Miss Cora Crow had a school at or near Kendrick, Idaho. We learn that Miss Mamie has also secured a school. Of Mrs. Woodward's family, Miss Ida first secured a school in the country. After one term she was employed as teacher in the city school of Colfax, Washington, at good salary. She gave entire satisfaction and has been retained by the trustees for another term. Miss Willard Woodward has a school some miles from Colfax. Miss Bessie Woodward has profitable employment in the office of the county treasurer as accountant. The States of Washington and Idaho pay the salaries of teachers and the pay is from $40. to $70. per month. So it will be seen these worthy young ladies of the two families are doing well. Their friends here are gratified at their good fortune and admire their spirit. They have made many friends among the Western people among who they live.

ATTENTION, STOCK MEN!

Having consummated arrangements with Mr. J. H. Vivion, of Cartersville, Ga., for the use of his Kentucky bred stallion, Deceit Chief, I respectfully and earnestly tender to the citizens of Calhoun county and the adjoining country, who have good mares, an opportunity of breeding to one of the most superior bred trotting stallions in America, and probably the only Dictator Stallion in the South, and of thereby embracing a chance to secure a first-class trotter, if not a race horse.

DECEIT CHIEF

Will make the season of 1894 at the Model City stables in Anniston, Ala., upon the following terms: Twenty dollars for the season, due when mare is first bred, with the privilege of returning her until season closes. If she fails to get in foal by the first service, twenty dollars for insurance, due when mare is known to be in foal, or is paired with. If mare fails to get in foal, and mare will own, but she may be bred back next season, if the money has been paid and stallion living and I keep him. Respectfully, L. G. JONES.

Let me say to our people that in the pedigree, which can be seen at my stables, of Deceit Chief, the sire of Deceit Chief, embracing the blood of Dictator, Herod and Pilot, Jr., there is combined more superior speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead, unless bred like him. Here are a few that have the same blood lines:

ree, the sire of Deed and Dictator, was bred in England, and was imported here by George Child, embracing the same in his stock. He is there is combined more extreme speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead of the same blood. There was a bloody riot at McKeesport, Pa., the 5th inst. between striking miners and non-union workmen.

The Republican party has swept the elections in Oregon. The fusion between the Democrats and Populists was badly beaten all along the line.

The democratic majority in Congress, large as it is, seem to be utterly incompetent to legislate the promises of the democratic party into law.

The war at Cripple Creek, Colorado is over. The miners on Bull Hill laid down their arms and abandoned their fortifications. An agreement was reached between the miners and mine owners which prevented further bloodshed.

All the indications point to the nomination of Atkinson for Governor of Georgia and the defeat of Gen. Evans, the candidate of the Atlanta Constitution. Had the Constitution paid more attention to Georgia politics and less to Alabama affairs, its candidate might now be in better position.

Secretary Herbert came from Washington to Alabama to register, so as to qualify himself to vote in the August and November elections. Such men as he not only recognize the importance of preserving to themselves the right of franchise, but also the duty upon every good citizen to vote in the interest of good government.

Some of the so-called democrats in the lower house of Congress are more than willing to pass a law relieving the banks of the ten per cent tax on their issue of clearing house certificates during the panic; but are unwilling to carry out a plain mandate of the national democratic platform by a repeal of the law taxing state banks of issue ten per cent. Such men ought to be kicked out of public life.

In Jefferson county joint debates are being held by the county democratic nominees for the legislature and the opposition. This is an excellent idea, and we hope to see it adopted in Calhoun. By this means both the adherents of Oates and Kolb will be brought out to the speaking and hear both sides of the argument. We presume, of course, that neither Messrs. Kelly and Scarborough on the one hand, and Messrs. Great and Stephens on the other, will be afraid of such an arrangement.

The Sayre Election Law

The Jeffersonians everywhere have been and are still cursing and condemning the Sayre Election Law. They go so far as to devote one plank in their platform to conform as follows:

"We denounce the iniquitous Sayre election law as the vicious embodiment of all that is objectionable in the Australian ballot system with none of its redeeming features, which taken in connection with the law passed for contests for county officers by the last legislature, effectually substitutes fraud and usurpation for the will of the people."

Mr. Skagg, the chairman of their campaign committee, not being satisfied, he employed Col. D. S. Troy to write him a legal opinion on the law, for the purpose of scattering it broadcast over the State. Col. Troy furnished the opinion. In a letter to the Advertiser in speaking of the opinion, he says:

"The obvious purpose of the Sayre election law was to secure the purity of election; and honest democrats throughout the state will be as much gratified as I was to find upon a careful analysis of the statute and of the general statutes bearing on the subject that the law is far more efficient to accomplish the purpose than has been generally supposed."

It is not presumed that they will scatter much. That is not the kind of literature Mr. Skagg was looking for.—Greenville Advocate.

Dragged to her Death.

Anniston, Ala., June 4.—Dora, the 9-year-old daughter of W. L. Swafford, assistant warden at the city hall, met a violent death this morning. She was sent to drive the milch cow to the house. The cow had a rope tied to her horns and the little girl picked up the other end. In some way she got it tied around her hand. When near the house, the cow became frightened and ran, dragging the child after her for about 400 yards before she stopped. The little girl's head was beat into a jelly by rocks over which she passed, and her body and limbs were fearfully mangled. Neighbors saw the awful scene, but when they reached the child she was dead and the cow was peacefully grazing again.

There's a wide difference between the help that's talked of and the help that's guaranteed.

Which do you want, when you're buying medicine?

If you're satisfied with words, you get them with every blood-purifier but one. That one is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. With that, you get a guarantee. If it doesn't help you, you have your money back. On this plan, a medicine that promises help is pretty sure to give it.

But it's because the medicine is different, that it's sold differently. It's not like the sarsaparillas, which are said to be good for the blood in March, April, and May. At all seasons, and in all cases, it cures permanently, as nothing else can, all the diseases arising from a torpid liver or from impure blood.

It's the best blood-purifier, and it's the cheapest, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar.

With this, you pay only for the good you get.

COURBS

CANCER.

Keyville, Fla., April 17, 1894.

Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs: About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of treating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and you being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge.

D. A. Bryant, Hackneyville: I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble, I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly.

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega: For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled.

Joseph Williams, Stevenson: I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helpless cripple, the Electropoise did it.

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine: My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results.

Miss Goldie Myers is visiting friends in Anniston.

Col. R. P. Thomason, of Oxford, was in the city Thursday.

Misses Hattie and Lillie Weems visited Anniston Wednesday.

The new awnings add greatly to the appearance of the business portion of our town.

Woodson Martin is an active worker in promoting the organization of the Alumni organization.

Ben Frank, one of our best boys, spent several days of the week in Birmingham.

Mr. B. H. Denman has returned from a trip to Lineville and Ashland, Ala.

Miss Emma Francis has been visiting relatives in Anniston and Atlanta.

Misses Undine and Louise Lane came home from Shorter College, Rome, yesterday.

Several Jacksonville families will spend the summer months at Sulphur Springs.

Mrs. G. P. Cason has returned to her home in Anniston after a several days visit to her parents in this city.

The usual service will be held tomorrow night (10th) in the Presbyterian church, everybody cordially asked to come.

We would like to print all the nice things said about our boys at Birmingham, but it would take up entirely too much space.

Everybody in the city should go to the Episcopal church tomorrow and hear the commencement sermon preached by Mr. Millichampe.

Chive Woodruff was one of the most popular soldiers at Camp Forney, and won the praises of his comrades and superior officers.

Sam Swan answered the call to go to Birmingham as a true soldier should, and conducted himself as such all through the encampment.

Misses Marie Burke, Dollie Lane, and Ida Crook, three charming Jacksonville young ladies attended the commencement exercises of Shorter college this week.

Walter Montgomery bakes delicious cake for his own bachelor table. No cook in town can beat specimens he has shown this writer.

Parties who may want fine work on shoe repairing would do well to apply to Mr. Winburn, westside of the public square. He does fine work at reasonable price.

The table at Camp Foaneys was furnished with everything the Birmingham market afforded, and the only fault that could be found was with the cookery.

All the business houses in Jacksonville now close promptly at 6 o'clock, and the clerks are thus allowed several hours of daylight for recreation and outdoor exercise.

Volume 1, No. 1, of the Watchman and Signs of Our Times, a semi-monthly printed at Birmingham and issued from Oxnana, with J. W. Clardy as editor, is on our desk.

The Jacksonville Detachment of the Woodstock Guards are profuse in their praises of Capt. McKleroy. The handsome Captain is held in high esteem by every man in his command.

Captain Forney's new uniform is a thing of beauty, embellished with the double bars of a captain, broad white stripes, and a profusion of braid. He looks every inch the soldier.

Of the eleven men who went from Jacksonville to Ensley City, two were sent home sick or disabled, the remaining nine would have stuck all summer without a murmur if the Governor had so decreed.

The new uniforms for the Jacksonville Detachment have arrived and the boys are happy in the possession of brass buttons and all the fascinating paraphernalia of soldier clothes. The boys drill almost every afternoon, and without doubt are as well drilled as any company in the State.

The Veteran Journalist Col. Holt McKee, once an honored resident at Jacksonville, and lately of Piedmont is now employed in the office of District Attorney O'Neil, at Birmingham. Col. McKee was O'Neil's private secretary when that gentleman occupied the gubernatorial chair.

ATTENTION, STOCK MEN!

Having consummated arrangements with Mr. J. H. Vivion, of Cartersville, Ga., for the use of his Kentucky bred stallion, Decree Chief, I respectfully and earnestly tender to the citizens of Calhoun county and the adjoining country, who have good mares, an opportunity of breeding to one of the most superior bred trotting stallions in America, and probably the only Dictator Stallion in the South, and of thereby embracing a chance to secure a first-class roadster, if not a race horse.

DECREE CHIEF

Will make the season of 1894 at the Model City stables in Anniston, Ala., upon the following terms: Twenty dollars for the season, due when mare is first bred, with the privilege of returning her until season closes, if she fails to get in foal by the first service. Twenty-five dollars for insurance, due when mare is known to be in foal, or is paired with. If mare fails to get in foal, and party still owns her, she may be bred back next season, if the money has been paid and stallion living and I keep him. Respectfully, J. G. JONES

Let me say to our people that in the pedigree, which can be seen at my stables, of Decree, the sire of Decree Chief, embracing the blood of Dictator, Harold and Pilot, Jr., there is combined more extreme speed than in the pedigree of any stallion living or dead, unless bred like him. Here are a few that have the same blood lines.

Where could there be such a record shown in the history of trotting contests? Then when you combine the blood of these two great sons of old Hambletonian and of the great Pilot, Jr., with that of the Manbrino Chief family, as is done in Decree Chief, and also backed up by the best strains of the rugged blood all the way back to old Imported Messenger, you certainly have breeding that should satisfy the most exacting.

ALL SORTS

Truth is the strength of God.
It never helps sin any to wash its face.

All offers of salvation are in the present tense.

Bad men hate the Bible as rogues do the police.

Sin is a great detective—it always "spots" its man.

No man seeks his best who does not seek God first.

If we obey Christ it is proof that we know Him.

To say yes to any kind of a sin is to say no to Christ.

It is a long step toward God to forsake bad company.

Praying at people is never prompted by the Holy Spirit.

The labor of unbelief is to make a stone look like bread.

We all hate self when we see it creep out in somebody else.

Too many divisions in sermons subtract from congregations.

The only freedom is to be in full accord with God's purpose.

The sun is always shining to the man who walks by faith.

Most any kind of money, held close to the eye, will shut out heaven.

The only cure for unbelief is the knowledge of God's love.

All true prayer is anointed with the blood of self-sacrifice.

Don't be too anxious to claim responsibility for writing rot.

The American who neglects to vote is the worst of aliens.

The devil sometimes closely imitates the church builder.

Republicanism dearly loves—a renegade and the proof is handy.

Some men are too stupidly honest to understand themselves.

The life that is made up of nothing but years is stuffed only with moss.

It would take an infallible man to make an absolutely impartial judge.

Prima donas often appear to have more scores to settle than to sing.

By doing your experimental cooking before marriage you may save many family broils.

Some men seem to imagine that their standing in society depends on stiffness of their collars.

High tariff's attention is directed to the Democratic fact that no unprotected industry has imported any "Huns."

There doesn't seem to be any more genuine protection in Carnegie's armor plate than in McKinley's tin helmet.

When we hear people eternally talking at a concert we are reminded that a jackass admires only his own music.

In justice to high tariff, it must be conceded that it has stimulated the simultaneous manufacture of coke, Coxeysites and cheap armor.

The woman glared at the man with the concentrated gaze of an enraged tigress.

The man in the bed would fain have drawn the covers over his head to escape her gaze, but he seemed paralyzed.

"False one," she hissed, "you are concealing something from me!"

Standing in the center of the apartment, in a Junoesque attitude, she seized his trousers by the fringed ends and shook them violently. Nothing fell from the pockets.

"False one!" she exclaimed again.

The trembling husband slowly arose. After the manner of one hypnotized, he went to the clock, opened it, drew from its interior a few bills and some silver, handed them to the woman and sneaked back to his couch.

"Thought I didn't know you had got a raise in your salary, did you?" said she.

He spoke not a word.—Indianapolis Journal.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life.

Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at all the Drug Stores. Regular size 50 and $1.00.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kitchener,
Cody, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Angus, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY."

ESTABLISHED 1837.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA.

SATURDAY, JUNE 23, 1894.

VOLUME 58.

It is a known fact to the readers of this paper that it has advocated fair elections for years. It is a fact known to the public that the bulk of the democratic press of the State advocate fair elections. It is a matter of public record that Col. Oates in his first speech for the nomination declared unequivocally for fair elections and that he stated emphatically that he did not want to be Governor if not fairly elected. The whole influence of the Democratic press, the legislation of the Democratic party (see Col. Troy's opinion of the Sayre law) the declarations of the Democratic nominee for Governor, the instinctive honesty of the Democratic masses all were influences tending to compel the rule of honesty and fair dealing in elections. The symptom was healthful for the State. The result was bound to be good.

At this juncture the Executive Committee of the Jeffersonian and Populite parties met in Birmingham and threw a wet blanket over the whole movement.

How? Instead of congratulating the State on the declarations of Col. Oates, the declared position of the Democratic press and the healthful state of public feeling in this regard, they regale the ears of a tired public with the usual whine and the usual batch of indefinite charges of fraud—not so far accomplished—but intended.

And what is the nature of the charges? Extremely indefinite and impossible to answer.

They recite, first, that registrars in "certain" counties have falsely entered on their registration lists names not in fact registered; second, that in "certain" counties Probate Judges have refused to allow the registration lists examined; third, that in "certain" counties registrars have fraudulently issued a large number of registration certificates for purposes of fraud; fourth, that in "certain" counties request for appointment of Jeffersonians as managers of elections have been declined; fifth, that in "certain" counties, "certain" individuals have purchased registration certificates of voters for purposes of fraud.

On this indefinite indictment they declare that a government of law has been set aside in Alabama, and on it they appeal to the liberty loving people of the State to overthrow the Democracy.

Now, all of the offenses they lay enumerated as having occurred in "certain" counties, is punishable by law, except perhaps that of the refusal of the Probate Judge to exhibit the registration lists. Why do they not arrest and punish these law-breakers at once? Why do they not tell us what "certain" counties are doing these things. They know the law and their rights under it, but they have heard of any attempt on their part to enforce the Sayre law, which provides severe penalties for the things they complain of.

Is not the conviction forced upon the public mind by their failure to prosecute, that no such state of facts exists, and that they are merely trying to deceive the people and influence their minds, for the time being, to gain advantage in the election in August?

There is not a fair minded man in Calhoun who would convict any man on charges so indefinite. Then how can the Kolb people expect the masses to convict a great party on such indefinite charges, especially when its candidates are on record as against the very things the Kolb Committee allege are now transpiring in "certain" counties.

They will not do it. They will kick the whole prosecution out of court and tax them with the costs.

Meantime the people may rest assured that ballot reform must and will come from the Democratic party. It will come by a cultivation of a healthy public sentiment, a growing belief among the people of all classes that people are morally bound to be honest in politics as in any of the other affairs of life.

Kolb and his crowd are no reformers, else they would hail with pleasure the declarations of the nominee of the Democratic party for Governor. The Democratic press and Democratic speakers on this head; and they would spend their money to convict and imprison the men in "certain" counties whose alleged wicked acts they make the basis of an address to the people of Alabama.

Dr. Crook and Kirby Woodruff came to Jacksonville Tuesday to get permission from the owners of the Schenck Sulphur Springs property to hold a mammoth bazaar and public speaking there the 29th of July. It was granted as a matter of course, as our people never allow politics to interfere with the amenities and courtesies of life. These gentlemen say that Tom Watson, Jerry Simpson and other noted Populite lights will be present and address the meeting. Five thousand people are expected to be present.

When asked if the Democrats would be allowed to join the discussion, they said "yes," but that only National and not State issues would be discussed. Of course the meeting is to be held to boost Kolb a few days before the election. We think the County Democratic Executive Committee should look into the matter and see if the offer of the privilege of joint debate is made in good faith. If so, arrangements should be made to have present Callahan, O'Farrell or some of the distinguished men of the country, who have rendered their services to the Democracy of Alabama.

The supporters of Kolb have a plank in their platform calling for a law to prevent the working of children under thirteen years of age in the mines. The Democratic Legislature of 1886-7 passed a law and it is still in force to punish by fine the working of children under fifteen years of age in the mines. Now the question is when the supporters of Kolb ignorant of the existence of this law when they framed their platform, or do they want to reduce the working age of children in the mines from fifteen to thirteen years? Or were they presuming generally on the ignorance of the miners and put in that plank as a cheap piece of political buncombe?

We congratulate the people of Columbus Georgia, upon the acquisition of the Enquirer-Sun by Col. B. H. Richardson. Since he has bought the Sun has greatly improved. Under his ownership it will become one of the brightest and best papers in Georgia. It is Democratic to the core.

Senator Max Baugh, Republican of Pennsylvania, acknowledged before the investigating committee that he had speculated in sugar pending the passage of the new tariff bill, and said he would do it again if he wanted to. He didn't think it was anybody's business if he did.

Capt. Jos. F. Johnston opened the campaign for Gates Tuesday at Union Springs, Bullock county. He spent the week making speeches in Southeast Alabama. Joseph is made of the right metal and will yet be Governor of Alabama. He does not balk when beaten.

The report from the Commissioner of Agriculture for Alabama, shows the condition of the crops throughout the State are in much better condition than has been popularly supposed.

Since the Republican State Executive Committee have endorsed the Kolb ticket, the latest Jeffersonian Democrat must see the trend of events. Are you ready to help Republicanize the State?

One thousand striking miners at Jefferson county held a meeting Monday and resolved to continue the strike. They resolved unanimously support the Kolb ticket.

There will be a picnic at Cedar Springs the 1st Saturday in July. Come and bring your girl and basket.

The Calhoun county doctors are having some little quiet fun of their own at the expense of our Birmingham fraternity. They have unblushingly published to the world that they are going to establish one medical college at Anniston, and one at Oxford, with a primary attachment at Jacksonville. But where will they get the faculties.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

They won't have the material, it is true, if the Birmingham medical college continues to draw on the Calhoun doctors for faculty of that institution.

Turn about is fair play. The Republican State Executive Committee endorsed the Kolb State ticket, and in return for the favor the Kolbites in DeKalb county have pledged their support to the Republican county ticket in DeKalb.

Joint debate is going on between the democratic county candidates and the opposing candidates in Jefferson and good humor prevails.

HON. H. C. SIMMONS.

Forsores the Demagogue Party and returns to Democracy.

Clay County Advocate.

H. C. Simmons, who has for several years been the leader of the opposition to Democracy in Clay County, and who was the founder of the People's party in our county and who in recognition of his eminent ability as an orator and organizer, was placed on the Weaver electoral ticket as elector at large for Alabama in the November election of 1892, has at last been convinced of the error of his political course, and has the manhood and gallantry to confess his faults and express his determination to fight under the banners of Democracy in the future, and as far as he may be able, lead back those who may have been led astray by his influence. His speech at Chandler Springs on the 1st day of June was an eloquent and patriotic confession of his political blunders, and was admitted by all who heard it as a masterly piece of oratory.

The Democrats received him back with hearty applause and good will, as they do all those erring ones who have wandered away and desire to return to their father's house.

No More Vital Issue.

Gadsden Times News.

The Times-News is pleased to note from its exchanges that its plea for fair and honest elections is being read by the press of the State. There is no more vital issue before the people of Alabama to-day than honesty and fairness in our elections. Reading will read now it fully the people.

Special. The white people of Alabama, then to assume the humblest citizen that this vote will be fairly and honestly counted. Nothing will better alleviate the bitterness of feeling that now unhappily exists to some extent in some communities. Let the press of Alabama make an honest, earnest and persistent fight for pure elections and elevated politics until the victory is won. Demagoguery and political trickery should not be tolerated either by the press or the people.

We have maintained all the while that there was as much fraud among the Kolb men as the Democrats. Now their organ published at Rockford, Cocon County, openly advises it and exerts the act upon the grounds that the other side always has. Just so a horse thief argues: if he don't steal a horse, somebody else will. Criminals ever lack excuses for their crimes.—Tallahassee Reporter.

Atkinson has won the race in Georgia. It is merely a protracted agony now for General Evans to stay in the race. He is a noble old Roman and a game fighter, but the Cleveland sentiment was too much for him.—Age-Herald.

KUKLUX IN GEORGIA.

Horrible work of Lawless Men.

Dalton, Ga. June 17.—(Special.) Last Monday a revenue man by the name of Roper, well known in Whitfield and Murray counties, also in Atlanta, as a witness against the moonshiners of north Georgia was called upon by the Kuklux of Murray county, composed of five disguised men. They carried him over about the Cohutta mountains, about twenty miles east of Dalton, to an old copper pit, sixty feet deep. They asked him if he could pray, as they were going to kill him. Roper replied that he could pray a little. After he said his prayers the Kuklux shot him four or five times and threw him in the sixty foot pit to die.

When he was missed the people began a search for him, scouring the country in squads. Today a party passing near the pit heard some groans and aroused the curiosity enough at the bottom to learn that it was Roper. They sent down a rope, which he tied around his body, and was drawn up by his friends. Roper is apparently shot all to pieces, and although he has been in that bad fix without food or water for seven days, he is still alive.

They carried him to his home in Murray county today and his home is guarded to-night to prevent the whitecaps or Kuklux from killing him. He says he knows the five men, because after he said his prayers and they decided to kill him they removed their masks, believing that the shots and the fall of sixty feet would kill him and further concealment was unnecessary. Roper says that he lay near some vines and roots that grew in the bottom of the pit. He ate and sucked the juice from the roots, which saved his life.

People who came from him this evening say he is the worst looking sight they ever witnessed. The blood that covered his body had dried on him and water will not wash it off. Although he was formerly a large, healthy man, he looks like a skeleton now. Fears are entertained for his safety, as those who began the job will evidently kill him tonight if they learn of his being alive and able to testify against them.

It is said that those who join these Kuklux clans take an oath to obey the orders of the clan and that when a man is to be killed they use a machine like a lottery drawing. The five who draw the numbers must kill the man named, or they themselves will suffer the same fate by their own members.

Many of their members when they join are not aware of what they have to do, but their oath is such that they are compelled to kill an informer when it falls to their lot or suffer death instead.

THE KOLB COMBINE.

IT WILL INCLUDE THE REPUBLICANS OF ALABAMA.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A special from Birmingham, Ala., says: The State executive committee of the Kolbites, Populists and Republicans all held a prolonged session today, the first two named meeting jointly. The Republicans endorsed the Kolb ticket and passed resolutions urging all Republicans in the State to support it.

At East Chicago, Ind. Friday night, Paddy Golden, with two revolvers, held 600 men at bay for three hours, and severely injured six men before he was arrested.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c for large bottle. At all the drug stores.

Jeffersonian Sympathy With Lawlessness.

Birmingham Age-Herald.

At their meeting in this city on Thursday last the Jeffersonian committee severely criticised Governor Jones for encouraging the State troops at Ensley City. Why they should condemn that proper and even necessary precaution against lawlessness and crime we are not informed. The Jeffersonians have, however, from the very inception of their party made the State troops the special subject of attack. They have contended against any appropriation for the maintenance of a citizen soldiery, and have made their appearance on every scene of lawlessness and disorder a theme to arouse political prejudice against the Democratic party.

The development of the bridge burning phase of the strike shows to every good citizen how timely and wise was the encampment at Ensley. Governor Jones declared from the beginning his confidence in the great body of the striking sinners as law-abiding citizens, but he also knew that a lawless element among them could be restrained only by the strong hand of force. But for the soldiers, there is no telling what this lawless element now engaged in the wanton destruction of property and reckless attempts to murder railroad engineers, firemen and brakemen and the traveling public, would have accomplished to the hurt of this community.

The presumption from the attitude of the Jeffersonian party leaders and of the committee at its recent meeting is, that they favor allowing the rascals now assaulting the law in this region to have full license. They see nothing in all this to call for the intervention of the State's protecting power. In what plight would we be, indeed, if these shallow politicians had the State government?

Of all the acts of Governor Jones since his election as Governor, his prompt realization of the danger to life and property in the mineral district and his prompt adoption of the most effective preventive in his reach, has most commended him to law-abiding people everywhere and even to the great body of the sinners themselves, who condemn the villainy now rampant along the lines of railroad. The Jeffersonian leaders mistake the temper of the steady wage earners of Jefferson when they seek their votes by denouncing military or any other restraint against lawlessness. They treat the people of Alabama when they deride the precautions of the Chief Executive against the destruction of the property and lives of the people.

HELD FOR MURDER.

TWO GUARDS WHO BEAT A CONVICT TO DEATH.

Houston, Texas, June 15.—Robert Newsome and Ben Mays, overseers on Koppis convict farm, are held for murder. On May 22 a tramp painter named Dunn was sent to the farm to work a line. Dunn complained of being sick, but was stripped and whipped for forty minutes. In the same afternoon he was again whipped by the same guards and beaten with a pistol on the head. He was compelled, though sick, to keep up with the gang in the field.

That night he fell exhausted on the porch. A negro convict was ordered to drag him into the house and Dunn soon died. Nothing was done in the case until a released convict came to town and exposed the horrible state of affairs prevailing on the farm. There is great indignation and the convict question is being fully investigated.

Truth will not hide, neither will it condone wrong. The Times-News believes in the often way of having political contestants meet in further discussion, a big barbecue, and a jolly time, and giving the permission to the fellow who has the longest pole.—Gadsden Times.

Come Back Home.

In Alabama today the doors of the democratic homestead swing wide upon easy hinges. To enter in, sit by the old hearth and hear the familiar voices of tried friends and parting kinsmen, the errant voter has no need to knock. His place is there, ready for him; and he may sit as one of the family, without taint and without question. Further than this it is the duty of such friends and kinsmen—hearing his cry for help, or recognizing his peril without a sound—to cross the threshold call loudly to him through the darkness and proffer the helping hand to lead him back to light and warmth.

Once there oil should be put upon any wounds he may disclose; not vinegar. Soothing makes surer cure for physical ones than acid irritants ever accomplish. And this fact is common sense of all Alabama Democrats.—Mobile Register.

Qualifications of Democratic Voters.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Democratic State Executive Committee at its recent session in Montgomery: Resolved: That the following shall be allowed to participate in the Democratic Congressional primaries, beat and mass meetings to be held after the next August election.

1.—All those persons who vote for the Democratic State ticket at the ensuing August election or would have voted for said ticket, but were prevented from so doing because they were not able to go to the polls.

2.—All those who will be entitled to vote in the next Congressional election, who are Democrats, who were not qualified voters in the August election, who will support the nominee for Congress of the Democratic Convention of his district.

Those naughty populists out in Kansas have turned down Sister Lease again. After making her believe that she was to get the nomination for congressman at large, they went to work and nominated a man. Mrs. Lease is as mad as a wet hen and she is promising to make things lively for the men who went back on her. It is really a pity that Mrs. Lease was not nominated. Congress is getting a little short on scolds. Old Mother How and sour-faced Bill Chandler are about the stock, on hand, and they are both in the upper house.—Chattanooga Times.

Troy Democrat: In the last campaign the populite speakers demanded on every stump that the legislature pass a new election law. Their national platform also demanded the "unperverted Australian ballot law." The legislature passed a new election law, a modified form of the Australian ballot system. Their former demands were cast to the winds as soon as the new law was passed and they have not let go a day since but what they abused the law and the democratic party for complying with their demands.

"One of the Old Guard" in the New York Times asks this pertinent question: "If ten men, under the direction of an autocratic monopolist can hold up this great government and its 70,000,000 of people and dictate when and what a tax on a single article of enormous consumption shall be, where is our boasted 'free government gone?' The question is well put. Now every citizen must answer it for himself.

Tom Reed should be a success as a politician if Judge Cheve's rule still holds good. The old South Carolina judge used to say that as the result of many years of experience at the bar and in public life, he had come to the conclusion that a big belly and a loud voice went further with the people than brains.—Chattanooga Times.

YEAR WITHOUT A SUMMER.

REMARKABLE WEATHER EXPERIENCE IN 1816.

A correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal had made a recent investigation into the early part of the century, concerning the noted "Year without a summer."

He gives the following summary, which will be read with peculiar interest, as the facts are known to but very few who are now living.

"January was mild—so much so as to render fires needless in parlors. December previous was very cold."

February was not very cold; with the exception of a few days it was mild like its predecessor.

March was cold and boisterous during the first part of it, the remainder was mild. The great freshets on the Ohio and Kentucky rivers caused great loss of property.

April began warm, but grew colder as the month advanced, and ended in snow and ice with a temperature more like winter than spring.

May was more remarkable for frosts than her smiles. Buds and flowers were frozen; ice formed half an inch thick; corn was killed and the fields were again and again planted until deemed to late.

June was the coldest ever known in this latitude. Frost, ice and snow were common. Almost every green thing was killed. Fruit was nearly all destroyed. Snow fell to the depth of ten inches in Vermont, seven inches in Maine and three inches in New York and also in Massachusetts.

August was more cheerless, if possible, than the summer months already passed. Ice formed half an inch thick. Indian corn was frozen and the greater part of it was cut down and cured for fodder. Almost every green thing was destroyed, both in this country and Europe.

September furnished about two weeks of the mildest weather of the season. Soon after the middle it became very cold and frosty, and ice formed quarter of an inch thick.

October produced more than its share of cold weather—frost and ice abundantly.

November was cold and blustery. Enough snow fell to make good sleighing.

The decision of a courtmartial, says the San Francisco Chronicle, is something to arouse wonder in the mind of a civilian. Here is Lieut. Maney, who shot down Capt. Hedberg when the captain had his hands full of bundles, acquitted by a military court of murder, but adjudged guilty of conduct unbecoming to an officer.

The western civilian calls a man a coward and a sneak who selects such an occasion as Maney did to get revenge on an enemy, but under the military code this offense seems to be "conduct unbecoming an officer."

Josh Billings once remarked: "Fools are divided into three classes—common fools, particular fools, and durned fools; but occasionally you find them all in one, a common, particular durned fool." Josh had probably in mind some of those rampant politicians that are to be found in this great and glorious country.—Columbus Sun.

At Kingston, Kan. the other night, when Editor Brown arrived from the populist state convention, where he bitterly fought woman's suffrage, he was met at the depot, taken from the side of his wife, clothed in a Mother Hubbard dress and sunbonnet, and compelled to march through the streets before a brass band. The friends of woman suffrage did it.

Sam Jones says that Breckinridge is the only member of the present congress who has been convicted of doing anything.—Chattanooga Times.

The Democrats report considerable gains in Ladiga beat in this county.

Jno. A. Bilbro, of Gadsden, has been nominated for the State Senate by the Democrats of St. Clair and Etowah.

Kolb will probably get more negro votes in Calhoun than he did in the last race, but the indications point to a falling off of his white vote.

Tilman and Butler have it red hot in South Carolina in a race for the United States Senate together. Butler has already told Tilman that he is a liar.

In Fayette county the Kolbits and Republicans fused in the county convention, and the Republican candidates got the nomination for nearly all the county offices.

T. L. Harvey, Populite of this county, invited A. J. Pitts, Democrat, of Talladega county to a joint political discussion at Ekalaton Saturday, 23rd inst. Pitts accepted.

The Atlanta Constitution of Wednesday gives up the election of its favorite, Gen. Evans, and admits that Atkinson will be nominated by the Democrats for Governor of Georgia.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says that orders have been sent out from Kolb headquarters instructing his supporters not to go out to hear Oates speak. If this be so, it is evident Kolb is afraid for his friends to hear the truth. It also shows that he is distrustful of his own followers. In any light is insulting to free men in this free country.

Mr. J. R. Horsefield and others, representing the miners of the Jellico, Tennessee coal mines, now out on a strike, have been in Chattanooga soliciting supplies for the starving miners. He gives their side of the strike. He says that the men have been working for $16.50 per month; that out of this the company took $4 for rent $1.50 for coal, 50 cents for blacksmithing, one dollar for a doctor and one dollar for oil, leaving the miner only $8.50 a month on which to support his family. When the company proposed to reduce this meagre wage twenty-five per cent the miners struck.

The evidence so far given before the Magistrate in Birmingham, in the preliminary trial of John and Peyton G. Bowman for the murder of Eugene Jeffers is very damaging to Bowman. It shows that the boy was disarmed and was being held by John Bowman, when Peyton Bowman advanced within a foot of him and shot him.

The bankers of New York have all at once become solicitous about the gold reserve in the treasury. They met Tuesday to devise ways to help the government; but it is noticeable that after they resolved it would be very bad for the country for the gold reserve to fall to fifty million, they declined to furnish pro rata gold for export to importers. They are probably figuring for a new bond issue.

A peculiarly revolting account of murder for reward comes from Florida. Tom Swain was an escaped convict on whose head was a large reward. Tillet Widden met him and professed friendship and invited him to dinner. While Swain was eating, Widden shot him dead, and hauled his body fifteen miles to Tampa to claim the reward. It was no less than murder for money and Widden ought to be tabooed by honorable men from now on forever.

Mr. C. D. Carmichael, Democratic nominee for the Legislature in Dale county, has killed the Kolb candidate, J. C. Killebrew, to meet him in joint debate.

Killebrew has been making many unfounded charges against the Democratic party. If he does not accept this challenge to joint debate, he would do well to quit speaking and stay at home. The people this year will hardly elect any candidate who shirks open debate with an opponent.

The secret service department of the government professes to have discovered a plot to blow up the white house, the capitol building and the treasury and other government buildings in Washington, and then a looting of the treasury of the United States. Honore Jackson, a half breed Indian, prominent in the Louis Bell rebellion in Canada and a prominent figure in the Chicago anarchist riots, is said to be at the bottom of the scheme. The job was to have been done on the arrival of Kelley's contingent of the Coxey army, but for the discovery.

Col. Oates has declared for an aggressive, but at the same time good humored campaign. There is going to be powerful little room for straddlers in this campaign. Every man will be forced to state exactly where he stands. No courageous man ought to be afraid to do this. No honest man ought to desire to avoid it.

The people ought never to vote for any Democrat who hides out in this race. All the parties known to history in Alabama have named to overthrow the Democracy. The people have a right to demand of every aspiring member of the party that he show his colors plainly in this contest.

Cleveland's administration has so far saved twenty-five million dollars in pensions; that is to say that amount has been saved by cutting off fraudulent pensions and the work has only begun. Under Republican rule, Raum, commissioner of pensions, asked for one hundred and eighty millions. This was cut to one hundred and sixty-five million by Congress. Of this the Democrats have used only one hundred and forty millions and twenty-five millions have been returned to the treasury. Next year the amount will be cut twenty millions more, and Congress will be asked to appropriate only one hundred and twenty millions.

During the canvass for the Democratic nomination the Montgomery Journal published an article placing Col. Oates in a false position with regard to public education. That was circulated by some shabby democrats. Since Oates' nomination, the Kolb people have been circulating it for all it is worth. But the Journal is now for Oates and is patting in some good work for him and against Kolb. The Journal now says the Kolbits say it is as good a liar as the Montgomery Advertiser. If the Journal is good at lying, why do they seek to injure Oates by any statement it may have made in the canvass for the nomination?

The evidence so far given before the Magistrate in Birmingham, in the preliminary trial of John and Peyton G. Bowman for the murder of Eugene Jeffers is very damaging to Bowman. It shows that the boy was disarmed and was being held by John Bowman, when Peyton Bowman advanced within a foot of him and shot him.

Judge Tourgee has withdrawn from the race for Congress in New York on the ground that no man can be elected to office by the Republican voters in that state without buying the office.

It is fast coming to that in the South. When the split was about to occur two years ago in Alabama, the writer made speeches to the people and predicted that if a split of the white people occurred, the negro vote would become the determining quantity, and that this vote, being purchasable, no poor man need ever to run for office any more in this country.

How has this prophecy panned out? We have five thousand five hundred voters in round numbers. Of this number fourteen hundred are colored. Do they not control, when two candidates can divide the white vote?

And does it not cost from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars to run for a lucrative office now? Ask some of the candidates of the last election.

Unknown parties set fire to the Mary Lee coal mines in Jefferson county Tuesday.

Fifty miners were dragged out through flame and smoke. Four of them are dead and many others are seriously burned or otherwise injured. Several of the injured may die.

A train of cars bearing miners to work in mines abandoned by the strikers were fired into on the same day, but happily no one was killed. Because Gov. Jones has placed the military in encampment in Jefferson county to protect the men who want to work, against this display of lawlessness, he is formally condemned by the men who lead Kolb's forces in this state.

What do law-abiding men, without respect to party, say to this? Should the Governor whose sworn duty it is to uphold the law, refuse to protect men who wish to work for subsistence for themselves and families; or should he allow the laws to be overthrown by a set of men who have proven themselves to be incendiaries, bushwhackers and murderers?

If it is the position of Kolb that under similar circumstances, he would refuse to uphold the law and preserve order, law-abiding men everywhere will say he ought not to be elected.

Through the Schools.

On Tuesday the 12th inst, the writer had the pleasure of attending a part of the commencement exercises of the High School at White Plains which has been conducted with great success during the past year by Prof. G. H. Eaddy and his estimable wife. The latter examined the children in the Primary department and many who learnt the alphabet during the term could spell difficult words off the book, while all displayed the thoroughness in spelling and pronunciation which only a good teacher and one trained in the best methods can impart.

The examinations in History, Geography and Geometry were also conducted orally and in such a manner that the most critical could find no fault in the instruction they had received; or in the attainments of the pupils. They exhibited a knowledge of the practical, the important, and the interesting, in the two first named studies, far in advance of the acquirements of a majority of educated adults, while the Geometry class in numerous propositions on the blackboard displayed the fact that their thinking and reasoning faculties had been exercised to a good purpose without depending upon memory alone. Upon the whole the writer was delighted with Prof. Eaddy's public oral examinations which disclosed in no unmistakable manner the latter's capacity as well as his energy, faithfulness and enthusiasm in his work during the past term.

On the same evening in response to an invitation from the Alumni of the Normal School we attended their banquet at the Iron Queen Hotel. The speeches of the young men without exception were of superior merit and just such as one expected from the graduates of this splendid institution. We are no part of a musician but as far as we could judge the music both vocal and instrumental furnished by the young ladies was first class in every respect. About thirty of the latter all belonging to the association graced the occasion with their presence and one would have to go far and search closely to find the same number of as pretty and fascinating representatives of the fair sex as those who assembled around the festive board.

On Wednesday evening we attended the graduating exercises of the State Normal School and heard the fine address of Prof. J. W. A. Wright, but as they have received a fitting editorial notice at your hands we pass on with the advice to young people of this and adjacent counties who expect to engage in teaching as a vocation that they take a Normal course under the scholarly president and able faculty of the institution established by the state for this purpose. Its graduates soon find good positions, for there is a demand everywhere for teachers with normal training.

On Thursday the 13th we went to Piedmont to the closing exercises of commencement week of the E. T. V. College which during the first year of its career has prospered greatly under the excellent management of President M. M. Russell. We arrived early and met a number of the leading citizens in the three hours before the literary oration at 11 o'clock and they all spoke in high terms of Prof. Russell and his fine corps of teachers. The whole people patronized the school which with boarders and children from the surrounding country gave an enrollment of over two hundred during the nine months and enabled the school to close with over one hundred in actual daily attendance. This did wonderfully well considering the hard times and comparing it with schools of previous years.

The literary address was on 'Life' and delivered extemporé by Mr. Cross, an eloquent and rising young lawyer of Gadsden. For about forty five minutes he kept his large and cultured audience thrilled with words of beauty and wisdom and like Maj. Wright's address, it was somewhat out of the usual line of commencement speeches and far more interesting than those in vogue fifteen or twenty years ago. He was followed with appropriate remarks by Rev. Mr. Witherspoon and Prof. Russell representing respectfully trustees and teachers, and concerning the past, present and future of the college. Before closing the audience was invited to the Art Levee at 8 p. m. and it was impossible for us to remain over night.

We went to the college to dinner and before train time spent two hours in looking at the many beautiful pictures, the work of young students during the past session. Their art display would do credit to any older institution, and the teacher, Mrs. Little, has succeeded wonderfully in having such an exhibition by her pupils of one term. We hope the C. P. College will continue to receive the united and cordial support of the citizens of Piedmont as we hope also will the Methodist District School at White Plains from people of the latter. This is the way to secure patronage from abroad. The object of the founders, as we understand it, is to build up Christian schools and not to teach creeds or proselyte children of other denominations.

With Catarrh, finally and completely, — or you have $500 in cash. That's what is promised you, no matter how bad your case or how long standing, by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Catarrh can be cured. Not with the poisonous, irritating snuffs and strong, caustic solutions, that simply palliate for a time, or perhaps, drive the disease to the lungs—but with Dr. Sage's Remedy.

The worst cases yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties. "Cold in the Head" needs but a few applications. Catarrh of the Head—such as offensive breath, loss or impairment of the senses of taste, smell and hearing, watering or weak eyes—are at once relieved and cured.

In thousands of cases, where everything else has failed, Dr. Sage's Remedy has produced perfect and permanent cures. That gives its proprietors faith to make the offer. It's $500, or a cure. They mean to pay you, if they can't cure you. But they mean to cure you, and they can.

ELECTROPOISE CURES CANCER.

Keysville, Fla., April 17, 1894.

Messrs. Dubois & Webb, Louisville, Ky.—Dear Sirs: "About eleven months ago I bought from you an Electropoise for the purpose of treating cancer. I had one of about ten years' standing, and it had reached a stage where it was making rapid progress, being about the size of a silver dollar. I knew that I had to do something or my time was about up, and yet being the only party that I corresponded with that would give me any assurance of a cure, got my patronage. I am now happy to inform you that the cancer is no more, the Electropoise arrested the progress of the cancer perceptibly in about thirty-six to forty-eight hours and gradually and slowly grew less until now there is a place about the size of a pin head that is not quite healed but gradually closing up. You can use this or any part of it as a testimonial if you wish. Very truly yours, M. M. Lillibridge."

D. A. Bryant, Jacksonville:—I was badly crippled with Rheumatism, also had a bad kidney trouble, I was helpless and could do no work. The Electropoise cured me and enabled me to work regularly.

Rev. W. C. Hearn, Talladega:—"For producing calm refreshing sleep and curing sciatic rheumatism the Electropoise can not be equaled."

Joseph Williams, Stevenson:—"I can walk all over town and even run, whereas a few weeks ago I was a helpless cripple, the Electropoise did it."

Mrs. W. P. Nelson, Sunshine:—"My recovery was wonderful. I have also tried the Electropoise on several of my neighbors, for various ailments, nausea, kidney trouble of the worst form, all with the most gratifying results."

Electropoise for rent or sale, standard and pocket sizes, DuBois & Webb, Birmingham, Ala.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, COMMERCIAL LAW A SPECIALTY. ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

A story is told of two young Indians who came to Tennessee ten years ago and bought 2000 acres of neglected land in Maury county. It was overgrown with shrubbery and briars, and the people who live about there did not regard it as worth fooling with. The success achieved has been remarkable and shows what the Southern country will do.

Of the 2000 acres, 700 are planted this year in Irish potatoes, and the yield is estimated at 50,000 barrels. The owners have a barrel factory on their place and make their own barrels. These potatoes are only one of a variety of crops that are grown. Wherever in the South land owners have turned their principle energies to raising food crops, success has resulted.—Age Herald.

Selma Times: Mr. W. T. Atkins has returned from a trip through Pickens county and says it is dead sure for the democratic ticket. Beats that went almost solid for Kolb two years ago will fall into line in the Oates column equally as solidly this year. E. D. Willett, the nominee of the democratic party for the legislature, is a sure winner.

Mobile Register: We believe in a fair count and so does our party. The proof of that belief is shown in the action of the democratic assembly in adopting the Sayre law, whose principal object, as Colonel Troy, the counsel for the Kolb party, has publicly stated, is to secure greater fairness and honesty of elections than has hitherto obtained.

Colonel Oate's speech on education sends hot shot into the camp of the enemy. It shows clearly their perversion of the truth. It shows their littleness. It shows their determination to get votes at all hazards and regardless of principle.—Laverne Liberal.

Joint debates are all the go this year. Bessemer is to have one to-night, when Col. John and other Democrats will meet the opposing candidates of the Jeffersonians.—Age Herald.

Remember its to be a fair count this time—the Sayre election law says so. If Kolb gets it he must have it. Now work like the mischief to get ahead of him on the straight line!—Tuskegee News.

"Reform" is it? It looks like it, with your pocket full of yankee boodle!—Tuskegee News.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY

ESTABLISHED 1837.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA., SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1894.

VOLUME 58.

Gen. Evans has come out of the race for Governor in Georgia and left the field to Atkinson. In a patriotic letter he offers his services to the State Democratic Executive Committee and urges democrats to stand together and not divide upon mere questions of policy. He does not think Southern men can secure the reforms they desire by an abandonment of the democratic party.

Tremendous excitement was created throughout France Monday by the assassination of President Carnot by an Italian anarchist named Santo. The assassin sprang on the steps of the President's carriage and stabbed him to death in the presence of a vast throng of people. The people tried to kill the assassin, but the police protected him and he is now in prison. Failing in their attempt to mob the assassin the French mob turned their attention to Italian residents of the city of Lyons and cafes kept by Italians were sacked and only the most vigorous work on the part of the police saved the Italian consulate from a like fate.

In an interview in New York, published in the papers of that city, Captain Kolb, who is there soliciting funds for his campaign said: "Our plan is to keep the congressional election out of the State canvass, and we shall make no nominations for congress until after the August election. Then we will go in and make a clean sweep of congressmen, and every man elected will be a protectionist."

What better evidence can there be that Kolb has sold his followers to the protectionist plutocrats of the East for money? It is by taxes wrung from the toil of the farmers that these men of the Eastern States have piled up their colossal fortunes. It is through a high protective tariff that the "money power" has been created. Kolb proposes to continue this system of robbery of the many for the benefit of the few for so much cash paid down. How does this comport with the demand of the farmers for "equal rights for all; special favors to none?"

Montgomery Advertiser: That people will turn out to public meetings is evidenced by the great number of propositions made for joint discussions. This is a good sign. Whenever democrats receive such an invitation they ought to accept, and they should always invite the other side to their meetings. The democrats have all to gain by going before the people and meeting the opposition speakers face to face. "Truth is mighty and will prevail."

Wilcox New Era.

In the Kolb counties 95 per cent. of the negroes registered, and yet Kolb says this is a white man's contest and the negro will cut no figure in it. The truth of the whole matter is the negroes, as a general thing, have registered all over the State; they registered almost to a man in the Black Belt and they will largely vote the Democratic ticket.

CAPTAIN JOHNSTON.

Capt. Joseph F. Johnston is in Birmingham, taking a short rest after his tour of the southeast country. He speaks enthusiastically of his reception everywhere by the people and of the prospects for democratic gains from the old ranks of the Jeffersonians. In fact, he is about the most enthusiastic Oates man in the state and the campaign committee continues to keep him to the front. His appointments as announced run to July 21. Birmingham Age-Herald.

The boys who have returned from the encampment speak in the most exalted terms of the splendid officer Ed. Caldwell has been while acting Colonel of the 3rd regiment in Col. Tisdale's place. Selma Times.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

Kolbites Call on the country to Send Them Money

Montgomery, Ala., June 23.—(Special.)—The campaign committee of the Jeffersonian democracy has issued an appeal to the country for funds with which to fight the democrats in this state. The appeal, which is signed by W. H. Skaggs, says among other things: "Birmingham, Ala., June 21.—The following is an appeal issued to the northern people by the Jeffersonian democracy or Kolb democracy of Alabama, in which they set forth the basis of their attack upon the democratic party of this state. While the republicans did not take part in the convention by which Kolb was nominated, they are urged to consider that this fight, for a free ballot and a fair count, would end in a benefit for them. The appeal is as follows:—

"The pending political campaign in the state of Alabama involves issues of a paramount interest not only to the citizens of this state, but to every liberty-loving citizen of the United States. An oligarchy of office holders and office seekers has, for a quarter of a century, dominated the will of the people. In addition to the many unwarranted and un-American measures inaugurated to suppress the voice of the people an infamous election law was passed by the last general assembly, which, as admitted by the author of said law, is designed for the purpose of 'disfranchising a certain class of our fellow citizens.' Under the operation of this law there is no penalty provided for registrars failing to discharge their duty, and the right of suffrage of every voter in the state is practically contingent upon the pleasure of the registrars appointed in the interest of the dominating class. The registration period just closed presents a disgraceful record of lawlessness, corruption and fraud. A large number of negro voters, at least 60,000 in the aggregate, residing in what is known as the 'black belt' district, have voluntarily disfranchised themselves temporarily by refusing to register. The issue with us is the same as that which confronted the people of all political parties in the state of New York in the late election, and sent McKane and others to Sing Sing. Perjury, and subornation of perjury, false registration and false returns, intimidation and violence at the polls. The criminal features are the same. The difference is one of magnitude only. Gravesend is a district, Alabama is a state. Our people are poor and we need funds to distribute literature, to verify the registration authorized by the election law and place on the registration lists only those actually registered and to use all such other means as circumstances may suggest to prevent fraud in any event. We need no financial assistance except to pay the legitimate expenses of a campaign for honest elections. With the overthrow of the privileged class of ballot-box stuffers there will come to Alabama a new era of thrift, and awakened energies will dawn upon us. To the American people we appeal for help.

KOLB TALKS CONFIDENTLY.

Captain Kolb, who is now in New York, said in an interview the other day: "If there was any doubt at all about my election, the administration of Grover Cleveland has made it an absolute certainty. The democrats of Alabama are dissatisfied with Cleveland and Clevelandism. The nomination of Oates, who is recognized as the administration candidate, was dictated by the party machine, and a great proportion of the rank and file of the party will not support him. My party now has the probate judges, sheriffs and county officials, who appoint the election boards, in thirty-eight of the sixty-six counties in the state. If my opponent could get the 60,000 black votes of the county to register, they would fraudulently count their ballots for Oates, but, as it is, only 5,000 negro votes are registered. It was by fraud in the black counties that they defeated me before. You can see the impossibility of their being able to repeat that fraud. My party will control the net state legislature, which will elect Senator Morgan's successor. I will not be a candidate against Morgan. Our policy is to keep the congressional election out of the state canvass, and we shall make no nominations for congress until after the August election. Then we will go in and make a clean sweep of congressmen and every man elected will be a protectionist."

Captain Kolb is accompanied by ex-Governor W. H. Smith and Jos. H. Parsons, two of the leading republicans of the state of Alabama. They are here to appeal for northern help against the fraud, corruption and lawlessness which has characterized the democratic machine in Alabama.

Mr. Kolb and his friends assert that the issue is the same as that which confronted the people of Brooklyn, Kings county and the state of New York generally last year. Contributions should be sent to W. H. Skaggs, chairman state central committee of the Jeffersonian democracy, Birmingham, Ala.

Afraid of the Truth

Here is the circular warning Populists not to hear Democratic speeches:

Headquarters of the State Central Campaign Committee, Jeffersonian Democracy, Rooms 100 101, 102, Hensley Hotel, Birmingham, Ala., June 16, 1894.—My Dear Sir: We respectfully recommend that you advise our friends not to attend the public meetings called by the supporters of Colonel Oates, nor listen to the speeches advocating his cause. Under ordinary circumstances and ordinary conditions we should not offer these suggestions, but the circumstances attending this campaign are not ordinary and the conditions are not normal. Free speech and a full and free discussion of the issues of the day is true Democratic policy, which we favor; but before there can be any joint discussion there must be mutual confidence in sincerity of purpose and honest methods. There is no room for discussion so long as one side claims and unhesitatingly exercises the arbitrary power of the brigand. We must first meet on the common ground of equal rights, particularly the one essential right of every American citizen, to vote for men and measures of his choice, and to have his vote counted as cast.

The plutocrats, Clevelandites and ballot box stuffers, all masking under the name of "organized Democracy," claim to be the "intelligent and virtuous," and to have the better speakers. Let them prove their boasts by a guarantee of an honest election under condition of a joint discussion. If Colonel Oates or the chairman of his committee will guarantee at once to take steps to have the registration lists in certain counties purged of false entries, and, further, guarantee an absolutely fair and honest election, we will at once advise our people to attend their meetings and our candidates and speakers to meet their candidates and speakers. They can get no gathering of any large number without our friends attend, and let us not attend until the guarantee is given.

In the matter of appoint inspectors we would suggest that you make no demands in this line until receipt of our further advice within a day or two. Yours sincerely, W. H. Skaggs, Chairman Central Campaign Com.

There will be a big Democratic barbeque and speaking at Bangor on the "Fourth," and among the speakers announced is Hon. H. W. J. Ham, the celebrated "Snollygaster" of Georgia. This will be the meeting of that part of the State and every body is invited to come and have a good time.

KOLB'S CAMPAIGN.

It is Looked Upon as the Entering Wedge in the South.

From the Home Market Bulletin for June, 1894, (Rep.) The Alabama campaign looks very bright for the Jeffersonians. They have the solid Republican support and the registration, which closed May 26th, is decidedly in their favor. The Republicans persuaded the negroes in the fifteen counties where the great frauds in counting were made in 1892 not to register; thus they cannot be counted for the Democrats. In thirty-eight out of the sixty-six counties the returning boards are Jeffersonians.

After a prolonged contest, the Democrats have held their convention and by a small majority nominated Congressman Oates for Governor, over Mr. Johnston, the anti-Cleveland candidate, who accepted the result with good grace on the surface. So the Democrats now claim harmony, but it amounts to but very little if they have it, for the total vote in their primaries to elect delegates, even though there was a spirited contest all over the State, aggregated only 40,000—the smallest on record. The truth is, they have lost their voters, and Captain Kolb, the candidate of the Jeffersonians has gained them.

The campaign will now be squarely between the Democrats, organized and backed by the State and national administration, on one side, and Jeffersonians, supported by the Republicans, on the other side. Almost the only issues are free ballot and protection, as there is no contest over the money question and not much on State matters.

Really this is a national fight. Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic national committee so regard it. It is of immense importance to them to keep the South solid. It is equally important to the friends of free government and protection to have the right succeed. Victory in August will be followed by further victories in the South in November.

The Boston committee of Republicans, consisting of John Shepard, John Shaw and Albert Clark (treasurer), has received and forwarded small contributions from all over New England and is anxious to receive more. The campaign is not expensive, but it costs something, and the people there are poor. They are battling for our principles and we ought to help them. At most we can only partially offset the Democratic patronage fund, but the people are aroused and are facing the right way. The election will occur the first Monday in August.

A COLORED ECONOMIST.

At the recent conference of the negro farmers at Talladega, an old-time negro, the "fore de wab" sort, made a speech, which is thus reported:

"A mortgage is a thing dat don't sleep. She's lyin' in wait and she's growin' when you don't think. You see I've been dar. De waive note cum walkin' in at de back door, an' you say, 'What you want?' an' she say, 'I've gwine ter sweep you out.' Do good work. Arter you've got anything put in de bottom of yer pocket an' keep it dar. Do good work agin. Put dat in yer pocket, too. By an-by, keep dein dat an' you kin buy a little piece o' lan' an' build you a two-room kabbin, an' you kin live at home. You kin raise corn, an' peas, an' taters an' a few pigs, an' chickens, an' den you'll be de road. You dig cotton an' yer won't ware it. How you 'spect dere'll be a price on it of its own people ar' feard of it? I've sleeped wid one eye open; de man who raises his own pervious nubber raises er 'morgage' wid waively note."

The speaker explained his success in accumulating property by saying, "I was jest 'terminated ter have sumthin'."

An Unperverted Australian Secret Ballot.

The Kolbites have raised a great hue and cry against the election law passed by the General Assembly, commonly known as the Sayre election law. A party never more deliberately and knowingly stultified itself than they have done by their attack on this law. The record is plainly against them.

In the Omaha Convention held in that city July 4th, 1892, the People's Party adopted this resolution: That we demand a free ballot and a fair count in all elections and pledge ourselves to secure it to every voter without Federal intervention through adoption by the States of unperverted Australian secret ballot system.

Nothing could be more explicit than this commitment of the People's Party to the principles of the original Australian ballot law. The Populists Convention that met jointly with the Jeffersonians in Birmingham, February 8th, of this year adopted a platform, the third plank of which is as follows:

With steadfast faith in the principles of the Omaha platform, we unhesitatingly renew our allegiance to the doctrines therein announced and will exercise our utmost energies in the coming election to have them engrafted upon our statute books.

This can mean nothing else than that if Kolb and his crowd should capture the Legislature and the Governor's office in this fight, they will give the State the benefit of an "unperverted secret Australian ballot system."

Now the cardinal objection they urge against the Sayre election law is that it works against the ignorant voter. The seventh paragraph of the fifty-eighth section of part two of the "unperverted Australian secret ballot system" reads as follows:

VII. Any voter may signify to the presiding officer that by reason of blindness he is unable to comply with the last preceding regulation, and thereupon the presiding officer, if satisfied that such voter is afflicted with blindness, shall permit any agent named by such voter to accompany him into the compartment set apart for the purpose, to mark the voting paper on such voters behalf, and hand the same to the returning officer, who shall deposit the same in the ballot-box.

There is no other provision in the original Australian ballot law that makes any exception in favor of any man, however ignorant he may be. It follows that the demand for the "unperverted Australian secret ballot system" and the promise to put it in force in this State means and can mean, so far as aid to the illiterate voter is concerned but one thing, and that is, he must take care of himself, the blind men being the only class favored under their proposed system.

Massachusetts has adopted the Australian ballot system and as the Kolbites are running their campaign with Massachusetts money, it may be supposed that the example of that State will have some weight with them. The Massachusetts law requires every voter to mark his own ballot unless he is blind, or was a voter prior to the year 1857. No man in Massachusetts who is under fifty-eight years of age, unless he be blind can get any assistance in marking his ballot. The Sayre law permits the voter who cannot read nor write to designate one of the inspectors to mark his ballot for him, and gives the further chance, if not satisfied with one of the inspectors, to have it marked by some one designated by them. All the main features of the Sayre law are copied from the Australian ballot law, and these are now in force with slight changes varying according to the States in thirty-four States of the Union.

There never was a more puerile cry than this one raised by the Kolbites against the Sayre election law. They are committed over and over again to a law, that in the feature they have complained most bitterly about, bears harder upon the ignorant voter than any law now in force in the United States. The Australian ballot law is now in force among nearly 100,000,000 English speaking people, and of all the varieties of the system in effect in the thirty-four States of this Union, and throughout England and her colonies, the Alabama law is accepted as the mildest and most considerate in its treatment of the illiterate class.—Montgomery Advertiser.

The last words of the murdered President of France were "I am going away."

Large numbers of Ohio farmers are buying land in Lauderdale county through the efforts of a real estate firm in Florence.

"Alabama," a new publication devoted to the material interests of the State, issued at Montgomery by J. C. Pope and C. W. Hare, is on our table. It is a very neat eight page paper, full of interesting clippings and bright editorials. It will do much good work for the State.

Anniston's staunch Democrat, Wm. C. LeGrand, was in Jacksonville Monday. Realizing the fact that it costs money to run a newspaper, he considerably called at the office and left his compliments in the shape of his subscription account. Let other good Democrats do likewise.

J. C. Manning writes a card to the Montgomery Journal denying that he has deserted the Kolb ranks. He says he is a candidate for the Legislature in Clay county. The statement of his desertion of Kolb appeared, we believe, the first time in the Greenville Living Truth, a Populite paper, edited by J. M. Whitehead.

Judge Richardson and Capt. Jos. F. Johnston are both speaking for Col. Oates. Both of these gentlemen were candidates against Gov. Jones, but both took the stamp for him when he got the nomination. There is nothing of the sulker about these two excellent democrats. Defeat does not sour them. They both deserve and will yet receive honors at the hands of the democracy of Alabama.

The Justice of the Peace in Birmingham, before whom was held the preliminary trial of John and Peyton G. Bowman for the murder of Eugene Jeffers, admitted John Bowman to bail in the sum of five thousand dollars and held Peyton G. Bowman in jail without bail. The attorneys for the Bowmans sued out a writ of habeas corpus and the trial will again be had before Judge Sharpe. Tuesday was set for the hearing of the case, but owing to disagreement of counsel as to some of the evidence, it was postponed until Friday 29th inst.

David Bennett Hill, once spoken of in the South as a Presidential possibility, has managed to convince the country during his short senatorial career that he is entirely too small a man for so large a station. His only commendable work so far was his effort to break down the curse of courtesy in the Senate and secure the adoption of rules by which the body could legislate.

Mr. T. S. Coolidge, of Glenn Falls, N. Y., President of all the line companies and pulp and paper mills of northern New York, representing millions of capital, was in Jacksonville a few days ago on a prospecting tour. He visited the line works on the line of the Jacksonville Mineral railroad four miles north of this place and was much pleased with the general outlook. He was accompanied by Mr. Cobb, of Anniston.

The anti-option bill, designed to break up gambling in futures on agricultural products has passed the House by a very large majority. Republicans, Democrats and Populites alike voting for it; but it is freely predicted that it will not pass the Senate this session. Most probably not. That body is too busily engaged in the game of "courtesy" to furnish the country any useful legislation this session or the next either. What the country needs is Senate made up of younger men not hampered by the foolish traditions of the Senate.

The Home Market Bulletin, a New England Republican, high protection paper says, speaking of Kolb and his supporters, "they are battling for our principles and we ought to help them." The article is published elsewhere in this paper. What is there of common interest between the Alabama farmer and the highly protected New England manufacturer, who has grown to be a "plutoocrat" through a government tax wrung from the toil of that same Southern farmer? Has not Kolb got his followers into a pretty pickle? And for what? A miserable "campaign fund."

Dispatches from Gadsden state that the adherents of Capt. Kolb are drilling twice a week with guns near Gadsden and the report comes that they are also drilling at or near Lincoln in Talladega county. Do these men contemplate violence if Kolb is beaten? If so it is time all peaceable people were getting out of the gang. Treason is a very serious offense, punishable by death, and peaceable and law abiding men cannot afford to become accessories to crime before the fact by association with men who contemplate treason by armed resistance to lawful authority in Alabama.

The Populite-Jeffersonian-Republican combination in Calhoun does not lack cheek. Certain individuals, assuming to represent the combination, not only sought to name some of the managers of election to the county officers, but asked that they be accorded two managers out of three at several of the boxes of the county. These very modest demands were ignored by the Probate Judge, Sheriff and Circuit Clerk, whose duty it is, under the law, to select the election managers. All agreed that the combination was entitled to one manager at each box, under the law, but all agreed that the party was entirely too young to have the preference at any box in the county over the old Democratic party. They also agreed that it was improper for individuals of any party to seek to name managers of election.

In an interview with a New York Sun Reporter a few days ago Capt. Kolb spoke of "my party" and "my chairman of my executive committee" as if he owned the whole shebang. He also announced that the "American Protective Tariff League will help me." That is natural, and it is helping him; because he has contracted to sell the tariff tax-ridden farmers of his State to the manufacturing barons and plutocrats of the North and East.

Never was a man so shameless and brazen in his treachery to his friends! Never before has a candidate relied so much upon the ignorance and prejudices of his followers! But many of them will disappoint his expectations. They were willing to follow him as long as they thought him to be an honest Democrat, having their interests at heart; but when they see him first try to sell them to the Republican party, and later to the money power, many of them will desert his standard. Indeed, they are doing so daily all over the State, as fast as they realize his treachery. No wonder he has issued orders through "my chairman" for them to stay away from democratic speakings. He knows it will be dangerous to his interests for the honest farmers to learn of his political prostitution and his abandonment of their interests for money.

The French Chambers elected Casimir-Perier President of the Republic, after several fierce fights among deputies of different political factions.

STATE CAMPAIGN.

Huntsville Argus.

Of course Kolb's trip to Washington and New York is to get more funds. He took a run from Washington to New York, Friday on a begging tour and, as usual he talked too much. He claimed to be backed by the Republicans and the American Protective Association. Thus in his anxious state he alights himself not only with the party that has always oppressed the South, but also with an association that is hostile to all foreigners and especially arrayed against a certain religious sect. Great as well as genial is Reuben!

Selma Times.

Captain Kolb and his gang in Jefferson are raising the old ruckus about the convicts not having been taken out of the mines. Everything has been, and is being done, to provide a place and employment for them, as fast as their wages will supply the means—the legislature, having provided no other means. We suppose if Captain Kolb was Governor he would turn the last convict loose to pick blackberries and rob hen-roosts for a living—to make room for skilled dynamiters and mine burners, most of whom are riff-rafs from Europe. This talk about removing the convicts, at a time when virtually a miner's war is on hand, will have a little weight in driving intelligent voters away from the Democratic ticket.

When Mohammed was marshaling his converts to propagate his religion with the sword, his men murmured, saying it was too hot to fight. Mohammed replied: "It's hot, but hell's hotter." The Democratic campaign speakers who stand back should remember that, while the weather is hot, there may be a political hell that's hotter.—Birmingham Age Herald.

It comes to the AGE-HERALD straight from New York that the New England Tariff League has already sent Kolb $3000 and has promised $5000 more. This coupled with the money which the last appeal will likely bring, admonishes the Democrats to extra activity lest we be sold out to the stranger.—Birmingham Age Herald.

Fixed just right—Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do it in just the right way, too—by using Nature's own methods. That's why they're better than the dreadful, old-fashioned pills, with their griping and violence.

But they're better in every way. In size, for instance, and dose. They're the smallest and the easiest to take; only one little Pellet is needed for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They cleanse and regulate the system thoroughly—but it's done easily and naturally. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for value received.

Something else, that pays the dealer better, may be offered as "just as good." Perhaps it is, for him, but it can't be for you.

Miss Lela Beall, of Troy, while jumping a rope fell and broke one of her arms.

The Clay County Advance read the people of that county a lecture on the fact that some western corn has had to be brought there to supply the farmers with food and feed.

Mrs. Taylor, an aged lady of Tuskegee, was found dead in her room a few mornings ago. She had been a sufferer from heart disease for some time and it is supposed that was the cause of her death.

Mr. Will Freeman who lives about four miles from Troy lost his house and all its contents by fire last Tuesday morning. He and his family were attending the Sam Jones meetings and did not know anything about it.

After several weeks suspension caused by the storm which destroyed the office. The Atlanta Herald once more comes to the front, a little abridged, but still a lively little sheet. J. W. Griffith is now the editor and proprietor and he says with the assistance of the people of that community he will give them a paper worthy the town.

What is going to prevent others from following the example given here from the Florence Times: "Mr. T. I. Denson was engaged the past week in cutting clover at the rate of two tons per acre. The yield would have been even larger, but the last frost nipped it. Clover and wheat are getting fashionable with our farmers. In these directions we want to see the farmers put on great style."

The Florence Times thus speaks of a conspiracy that is being formed in that county, and there is no law in the State for punishing those who go into it. "Mr. John Byars of Centre Star, sent to the Times last week a bunch of wheat from his fine field as a sample of his crop. The plot thickens. Our farmers are conspiring against hard times by raising wheat, oats, clover, peas, potatoes and so forth."

The following item from The Florence Times shows that things are looking up in that section and the prospects for fall are brighter. Dr. L. W. Arnold, who has lately been in the rural districts, says there is more land in cultivation in Landerdale than he ever knew before. It is also true that these crops are being made on more of a cash basis than for many years. All this means well for business in the early future."

Dr. G. C. Osborn, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick poisons which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful poisons down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kinzelow, Conway, Ark.

Dr. A. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
